Scientists Join Space Program

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The Space Agency has 11 new scientist - astronauts who may spend days on the moon, weeks in space stations circling Earth or months flying to Mars or other planets.

Selected for their scientific rather than piloting background the fledgling spacemen swelled the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's astronaut corps to 56. All must learn to fly jets before taking a space trip.

NASA SAID they came into the program to train to "conduct scientific experiments in manned orbiting satellites and to observe and investigate the lunar surface and circumterrestrial space."

They join five others in the scientist-astronaut category who joined in 1965.

The newest additions to the space team include the youngest, 25, and the oldest, 40, ever chosen by NASA, and bring the first two foreign-born astronauts into the program — an Australian and a Welshman.

All hold doctor's degrees, either in the sciences or medicine. They are:

Joseph P. Allen, 30, research associate at the University of Washington.

Philip K. Chapman, 32, naturalized U.S. citizen from Melbourne, Australia; staff physicist at the Experimental Astronomy Laboratory, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston.

Anthony W. England, 25, graduate fellow at MIT, doctorate in geophysics.

Karl G. Henize, 40, doctor of astronomy, professor at Northwestern University.

Donald L. Holmquest, 28, intern at Methodist Hospital in Houston, graduate of the Baylor University College of Medicine.

William B. Lenoir, 28, electrical engineering doctorate from MIT, an associate professor at MIT.

—:—

JOHN A. Llewellyn, 34, born in Cardiff, Wales, an associate professor at Florida State University, doctorate in chemistry from University College, Cardiff.

F. Story Musgrave, 31, doctorate in physiology from the University of Kentucky, where he is a post-doctoral fellow.

Brian T. O'Leary, 27, Ph. D. in astronomy from the University of California, NASA trainee at Space Sciences Laboratory, Department of Astronomy, University of California.

Robert A. Parker, 30, associate professor of astronomy, University of Wisconsin, astronomy doctorate from the California Institute of Technology.

William E. Thornton, 38, M.D. from the University of North Carolina until recently a researcher in Air Force space-program.

All but Holmquest report to the Manned Spacecraft Center, the space pilot training base, Sept. 18 to start orientation. Holmquest plans to delay his reporting about a year to complete his internship.

NASA said the group would enroll in an Air Force jet pilot school next March. None is expected to be considered ready for a space trip for at least two years.

All's well with the tri-state district so far as the weather is concerned.

3 Are Injured As Auto Flips Into Cornfield

Lisbon Area Man Hospitalized After Mishap In County

Three were injured this morning near Salem when their auto went out of control on a curve and overturned, coming to rest in a cornfield.

In "satisfactory" condition at Salem Central Clinic is 22-year-old William Reid MacDonald of Lisbon RD 4, who has possible chest injuries.

He was the driver of a 1963 coach which was northbound on Route 9 near Salem at 1:45 am. The car left the east side of the road after missing a curve, then returned to the highway, according to the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon, and went back off the east side and rolled over.

Police Are Pelted By Rocks, Bottles And Fires Started

Roaming groups of Negroes pelted police with rocks and bottles and set several fires Friday night and early today in Wichita, Kan., and Elgin, Ill., marring an otherwise peaceful night on the nation's streets. At least 15 persons were injured in the two cities, five of them policemen.

Milwaukee relaxed its nighttime curfew on drink and travel until midnight Friday, allowing taverns to resume normal business for the first time since riots hit the city's Inner Core on Sunday.

Delaware Gov. Charles L. Terry Jr. declared a state of emergency in Wilmington to deal with what he called "rebellion." Aides said though the city was currently quiet a "potential" for trouble existed.

In Wichita, the confrontation between police and the Negroes took place after Mayor Clarence Vollmer imposed an emergency curfew in the northeast part of the city.

Police had requested the quarantine after bands of youths roamed the streets uncontrolled. A total of 15 to 20 arrests were reported.

Earlier city commissioners agreed to see three representatives of the Negro community next week and hear their grievances.

Two police officers were injured by flying debris. Police said fires were set at two businesses and in a car, but all were quickly extinguished.

At Elgin, Ill., authorities clamped a 10 p.m. curfew after a half-dozen fires broke out Friday night. Officials said five were caused by gasoline bombs. Three Negroes were arrested and charged with arson.

The disturbance was the second within a week in Elgin, 30 miles west of Chicago.

'Stab In The Back,' One Senator Says Of Varied Charges

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate champion of the war on poverty says the program is imperiled by "stabs in the back" falsely linking its men and money with racial hatred and Negro rioting.

But a Southern senator said such charges against antipoverty agencies have not been proved false.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said in his view the charges were substantiated by the very witness summoned to deny them.

"We serve nobody's interests except the fellow that wants to cause a riot by whacking at the poverty program," said Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., criticizing the course of a Senate Judiciary Committee inquiry into Negro rioting. Eastland heads the committee

President Johnson's $2 billion poverty program request already faces trouble in Congress.

"This is sure as hell not helping," Hart said in an interview. "It doesn't need this kind of stabs in the back, unverified charges and irrelevancies."

Another defense of the poverty program came Friday from the Rev. J. Paschall Davis, who denied the Nashville, Tenn., antipoverty agency he heads has funneled funds from the Office of Ecnomic Opportunity to a school accused of teaching Negro children to hate white people.

He told the Judiciary Committee that funds have been allocated for that school program, and a contract has been signed—but if it teaches race hatred no money will go to it.

"We've made mistakes," he acknowledged, and cited as one of them a transaction which put the Nashville chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee in possession of a new station wagon leased by the local poverty agency.

"I'm very concerned that the poverty program go on when it is well administered, because this can be the solution to the problem of riots," said the Rev. Mr. Davis, a soft-spoken, gray-haired man in Episcopal clerical attire. Once a Wall Street lawyer, he said he turned to the ministry seven years ago.

The clergyman, who heads the Nashville Metropolitan Action Commission, flew to Washington to insist before the Judiciary Committee that his agency has provided no poverty money to a "Liberation School" directed by Fred H. Brooks, the city SNCC chairman.

Communist Guns Pounded

U.S. Warplanes Keeping Pressure On North Viet

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes kept up heavy pressure on North Vietnam Friday, flying 145 missions after a record 197 strikes the previous day, and a main target was the Communist guns which were shooting at them.

Air Force F105 Thunderchief pilots reported they destroyed at least 17 antiaircraft gun emplacements around the air field and railroad yard at Kep, 38 miles northeast of Hanoi.

Other pilots flew through heavy antiaircraft fire and surface-to-air missiles to hit other military targets and fuel storage areas.

The Communist fire brought down a Navy Skyhawk and the pilot was missing. It was the 636th announced U.S. warplane loss over the North.

Ground fighting continued in one of its periodic lulls, but South Vietnamese military headquarters said three infantry sweeps in the Viet Cong-infested Mekong delta had accounted for a total of 469 enemy dead in nine days.

The Viet Cong struck again at two U.S. military installations near Saigon.

For the second time in 10 days, the Communists unleashed a mortar attack on the base camp of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division's 3rd Brigade at Lai Khe, 30 miles north of Saigon.

The attack Friday night killed one American and wounded eight. A Communist rocket and mortar barrage on the base camp July 27 killed 11 U.S. soldiers and wounded 43.

The U.S. naval base at Nhe Be, eight miles southeast of Saigon, came under Communist recoilless rifle attack early today for the second time in three days.

The Navy said Communists fired eight or nine rounds of 75mm recoilless rifle rounds into the complex, but that only two hit the base. The others landed in the Long Tao river bordering the base, from which Navy patrol boats conduct operations against the Viet Cong in the delta.

The Navy said there were no casualties and only light damage to the facilities. In a heavier mortar and recoilless rifle shelling of the base and a nearby petroleum tank farm Thursday, 27 Americans and six Vietnamese were wounded and 1,000 55-gallon drums of fuel went up in flames.

A U.S. Marine security platoon guarding a bridge south of Da Nang came under heavy Communist attack early today. Two Marines were killed and 14 wounded.

Striking in darkness with small arms, automatic weapons, grenades and mortars, the Communists penetrated the Marine perimeter in two places. Two Marine bunkers were destroyed by what were believed to be 40mm rockets. Communist casualties were not known.

Troops of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division reported destroying a Viet Cong grenade factory 24 miles northwest of Saigon. The Americans found a large underground room containing eight 55-gallon drums containing tools, castings, explosives and other grenade parts.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—Can you suggest an easy method of straightening out the kinks and bends in stiff electrical wire?

A.—Try placing the wire on a board or other hard, flat surface, then going over it with a cold iron, using just enough pressure to make the wire roll.

Q.—How can I add a professional touch to my freshly - laundered tablecloths?

A.—Press the center crease only. All other folds are best made by hand, since ironed creases don't lie flat on the table.

Q.—How can I remove discolorations from the insides of aluminum kitchen vessels?

A.—By adding two teaspoons of cream of tartar to about two quarts of water in the vessel, and keeping this boiling until the discolorations have disappeared. You can save this solution for future use, too.

Q.—How can I prevent homemade syrup from candying after it has stood for awhile?

A.—By adding a teaspoonful of vinegar to it. Many other such tips for making life in and around the home easier are contained in my new household manual.

Q.—How can I remove carrot stain from fabrics?

A.—In washables, these stains usually come out with laundering. If not, treat the stain with a solution of water and neutral detergent.

Q.—How can I make a good job of cleaning enameled woodwork?

A.—Try using a mixture of one cup of kerosene, one cup of vinegar, and a half - cup of water, shaking this up thoroughly in a bottle, then applying to the woodwork with a soft cloth, and following with a dry one.

Clifford And Maxwell Return

Allies Reported 'Agreed' On How To Aid Viet War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential envoys Clark Clifford and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor returned from their Southeast Asian trip today reporting they found general agreement among the allies on how to push ahead with the Vietnam war.

"A great degree of concensus," was how Taylor summed up the attitude of allied leaders on which he was slated to report to President Johnson this afternoon.

"There was unanimous agreement among all the allies that the bombing should be carried on at its present level or possibly at an increased level." Clifford added.

And there was no reluctance expressed about sending more troops to Vietnam from other allied countries, Taylor said, "because we were not asking for more troops."

Johnson dispatched the two senior presidential advisers to talk with the chiefs of the countries who have forces fighting the Communists in Vietnam. Their two-week trip took them to South Vietnam, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand and South Korea.

Taylor is the former U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam and Clifford, a Washington lawyer, has been an adviser to Johnson and other Democratic presidents.

While little concrete information has been given out concerning the Clifford-Taylor mission, Johnson apparently sent his senior confidants to talk with the leaders of the nations with troops in South Vietnam to:

—Check on the progress of the military and political-economic campaigns in South Vietnam.

—Give the allied chiefs Johnson's latest views on the Vietnam effort.

—Receive the views of the allied leaders and relay them to Johnson.

—Survey prospects for the next Vietnam summit parley. The last such summit gathering was at Manila last October. The next one is expected in Seoul or Bangkok this fall.

George Washington thought so highly of beer that he wrote down a favorite recipe for brewing it. This recipe is still preserved in the New York Public Library.

Clifford And Maxwell Return

Allies Reported 'Agreed' On How To Aid Viet War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential envoys Clark Clifford and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor returned from their Southeast Asian trip today reporting they found general agreement among the allies on how to push ahead with the Vietnam war.

"A great degree of concensus," was how Taylor summed up the attitude of allied leaders on which he was slated to report to President Johnson this afternoon.

"There was unanimous agreement among all the allies that the bombing should be carried on at its present level or possibly at an increased level," Clifford added.

And there was no reluctance expressed about sending more troops to Vietnam from other allied countries, Taylor said, "because we were not asking for more troops."

Johnson dispatched the two senior presidential advisers to talk with the chiefs of the countries who have forces fighting the Communists in Vietnam. Their two-week trip took them to South Vietnam, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand and South Korea.

Taylor is the former U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam and Clifford, a Washington lawyer, has been an adviser to Johnson and other Democratic presidents.

While little concrete information has been given out concerning the Clifford-Taylor mission, Johnson apparently sent his senior confidants to talk with the leaders of the nations with troops in South Vietnam to:

—Check on the progress of the military and political-economic campaigns in South Vietnam.

—Give the allied chiefs Johnson's latest views on the Vietnam effort.

—Receive the views of the allied leaders and relay them to Johnson.

—Survey prospects for the next Vietnam summit parley. The last such summit gathering was at Manila last October. The next one is expected in Seoul or Bangkok this fall.

George Washington thought so highly of beer that he wrote down a favorite recipe for brewing it. This recipe is still preserved in the New York Public Library.

Ciudad Guayana lies in the heart of the wild and lonely Guiana Highlands in southeastern Venezuela. Government officials hope the region will grow into a Ruhr-type industrial complex. The area abounds in minerals and waterpower.

Army Recruiter Outlines Enlistment Opportunities

Various enlistment opportunities were announced today by Edward P. Vallor, local Army recruiter.

Qualified young men may enlist now, but not actually leave for up to 120 days, the sergeant said.

Under the new Delayed Entry Program, young men may spend from 30 to 120 days in the Army Reserve before they enlist in the Regular Army and go on active duty. During their waiting period they are not required to take part in any military activities.

In addition, men who qualify receive a written guarantee of their job training before they enlist in the delay program. Then, following their basic training, they receive classroom or on-the-job training in their chosen careers.

Sgt. Vallor noted that, "The time spent in the Reserve counts as seniority for pay purposes and promotions, as opposed to those who do not take advantage of the Delayed Entry Program and go right into the Regular Army."

BECAUSE OF the increased need for divers, the Army is now offering an enlistment option for qualified men in this career field.

The eight-week course is conducted by the Navy at San Diego, Calif. Subjects to be covered include diving physics, underwater mechanics, underwater work with all conventional diving equipment and diving to a depth of 150 feet.

Applicants must meet certain requirements to qualify for this option. They must be psychologically adapted for diving duty. To prove their swimming ability they must have a valid Red Cross Lifesaving Certificate, or one signed by the YMCA or a Red Cross or high school official. Upon completion of basic training, the Navy will give the diving applicant more tests.

—:—

PLANS also have been launched to increase the enlisted strength of the Women's Army Corps (WAC) by about 4,000 over a 24-month period.

"This increase will provide additional opportunities for young female high school graduates to receive topnotch job training and all other benefits of Army service," Sgt. Vallor noted.

Openings currently exist in the fields of communications, administration, dental and medical skills, personnel, secretarial skills, automatic data processing, and many more.

Young women with high school diplomas who are between the ages of 18 and 34, may be tested by the Army and, if qualified, receive a written guarantee of the job training of their choice, before they enlist.

Additional information on any of the above fields may be obtained from Sgt. Vallor by calling 386-4626 or by contacting him at the recruiting station in the East Liverpool Post Office at E. 5th St. and Broadway.

portunity is supporting the school. Sorace said it teaches racial hatred.

"No money has been given to that school as yet," the Rev. Mr. Davis testified. "No money will be given until we have an opportunity to investigate."

And he said if Sorace's testimony about the school is found to be true, it will get no poverty-fighting money.

The clergyman-chairman said that probably will be the outcome.

"The money has been allocated to our program," he acknowledged. "We are involved in a certain way—we have a contract with them."

The clergyman said the contract is not with Brooks, but with St. Anselms Episcopal Chapel, where the school operates.

Records in Nashville indicated that a "Liberation School" payroll, with Brooks listed as director, was to have been financed by the poverty agency Aug. 28.

It was at St. Anselms, the Rev. Mr. Davis said, that Brooks took possession of the white station wagon leased by the poverty agency. But he likened the transaction to a janitor receiving a package delivered to an apartment house.

Eastland disagreed. "He's driving the station wagon and he's director of the school and you have contractual relations with him," the Mississippi senator said.

5 Youngsters Die In Wreck, 65 Are Hurt

FREMONT, Calif. (AP) — A flatbed truck carrying a YMCA youngsters' club home from a day on a Pacific Ocean beach somersaulted out of control Friday on the Nimitz Freeway, killing five and injuring 65 others.

Larry Fink, newly sworn in California High Patrol officer who saw the accident, declared: "I didn't realize how bad it was until I got up to the cab of the truck and all I saw was a mound of bodies."

Fink, working with fatalities for the first time, radioed for "all the ambulances you've got" and then with others broke out first-aid kits and started loading youngsters into passing cars that took them to hospitals.

The patrolman said the northbound truck veered to the right and then to the left onto a 40-foot wide strip that divides the four-lane freeway. As the truck hit the center strip, he said, it somersaulted, finally landing on its side.

The truck, rented by the Berkeley YMCA for its "Summer Fun Club," had taken 62 youngsters and eight staff members Friday morning to Santa Cruz, some 100 miles south of Berkeley. It was returning at 4:30 p.m. when it turned over in Fremont, 30 miles south of Berkeley.

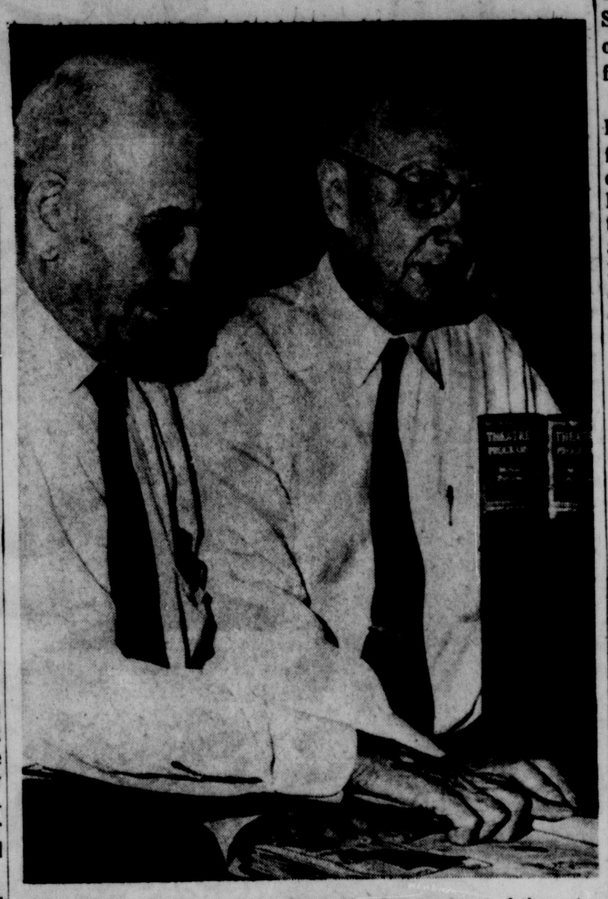
Soviet Skipper Held In Fisheries Charge

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Soviet trawler skipper Daniel Baronik remained in the Alaska state jail Saturday in lieu of $10,000 bail after he was charged Friday with violation of the exclusive 12-mile U.S. fisheries zone.

Baronik appeared before U.S. Commissioner James Hanson who set bail and ordered the Russian held. Arraignment was postponed until Monday to permit the arrival of Soviet Embassy officials from Washington.

Baronik's vessel was seized by the Coast Guard Thursday after a three-mile chase north of Akutan Island in the Aleutians and escorted to Dutch Harbor. Baronik and a crew member were flown here Friday.

Barth Collection Donated To Pitt



Harold B. Barth, left, and Dr. Ford E. Curtis, professor emeritus of the English Department at the University of Pittsburgh, are shown examining part of the vast collection of theater programs and scrapbooks Barth has donated to the theater section of a new library now under construction at Pitt.

Curtis says the works will be known as the "Harold B. Barth Collection" and will retain a separate identity from other groups of memorabilia in the Curtis Library portion of the new building.

Forty or 50 scrapbooks, crammed with theater, ballet and other reviews of the arts, were included along with a similar number of program volumes.

Curtis has termed the gift "one of the largest yet received".

The collection spans from playbills of Pittsburgh and East Liverpool showings in the late 19th century, to New York Times theater reviews only weeks old. They had been stored in the Historical Society in the Carnegie Library.

Both men have indicated their pleasure at the thought of thousands of drama students being able to enjoy such a treasure trove of writings on the American theater.

Edward F. Alderman, 28, of East Palestine also was cited for speeding when his 1959 sedan left County Rd. 431 near East Palestine Friday, slid off the right side of the highway and continued out of control for 142 feet before striking a sign and overturning in a ditch. He complained of an injury.

At 7:30 p. m. yesterday, cars driven by Jack L. Echard, 17, of Leetonia and Robert D. Skinner, 38, of Salineville, collided on Route 164 south of Columbiana.

The patrol said Echard was backing his auto and camper-trailer into a driveway when it was struck by the Skinner car. Echard was charged with improper backing.

A beverage truck and an auto, both passing other vehicles, collided Friday afternoon on Route 30, south of the intersection with Route 7.

The truck, operated by Chester T. Dubiel, 36, of Youngstown, was hit by a 1964 coach driven by Clarence E. Chandler, 21, of Amherst.

According to reports, Chandler was northbound and passing another northbound vehicle when he swerved to pass a second car, colliding with the rig which was also in the passing lane.

Chandler was cited for driving left of center and operating without a driver's license.

'Will Keep Going,' 'Director' Declares

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Black Power advocate who claims to be director of Nashville's "Liberation School" says the federal government "can keep their funds—we're going to continue operating."

Fred H. Brooks, leader of Nashville's Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee chapter, said Friday the school will operate on local contributions if charges that the school teaches hatred of whites lead to a cutoff of federal funds.

Police Capt. John A. Sorace told the Senate Judiciary Committee in Washington Thursday that the antipoverty school teaches "pure, unadulterated hatred of the white race."

Brooks, a husky 20-year-old Detroit Negro, answered Sorace Friday night.

"I think Sorace is a racist. He should be killed," Brooks said. "He no longer serves a function in society. He ought to be put away somewhere. He's insane."

Asked to amplify, Brooks said, "I think any man who resorts to lying to this country about what's going on in the black community should be killed. He's a traitor." Sorace could not be reached for comment.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—An explosion at the Ohio Metal Products Co. Friday injured four Dayton men. One, Jack Clark, 35, was reported in critical condition.

Court Clarifies Warrant Error, Driver Cleared

The Eastern District County Court at East Palestine today said an error had been made in issuing a bench warrant for Gene T. Gilbert of Stagecoach Rd. on a traffic charge, and that a bond had been posted by Gilbert and subsequently forfeited.

Officials said Friday the warrant had been issued for Gilbert — cited on a charge of failure to halt for a stop sign — because he did not appear for a Thursday hearing. However, Gilbert had previously posted a $15 bond at the Lisbon Court, but the information had not been subsequently noted at the East Palestine office.

Laughter has been found to be a fine medicine or tonic—a healer of the body as well as of the mind, creating harmony not only within oneself, but within those with whom one comes in contact. Scientific tests have proved that laughter reduces muscular tension, relaxes the tissues, and stimulates the muscles and organs of the body by introducing more adrenal fluid into the bloodstream.

WEEKLY HEALTH tip

For regular exercise (so essential to good health) don't rely on will power which, as one doctor says, "lasts about two weeks and is soluble in alcohol". Exercise can also be fun, with sports and games you enjoy such as swimming, hiking, bicycling, volleyball, badminton — yes, even ping-pong. A daily brisk walk is most healthful.

The patrolman said the northbound truck veered to the right and then to the left onto a 40-foot wide strip that divides the four-lane freeway. As the truck hit the center strip, he said, it somersaulted, finally landing on its side.

The truck, rented by the Berkeley YMCA for its "Summer Fun Club," had taken 62 youngsters and eight staff members Friday morning to Santa Cruz, some 100 miles south of Berkeley. It was returning at 4:30 p.m. when it turned over in Fremont, 30 miles south of Berkeley.

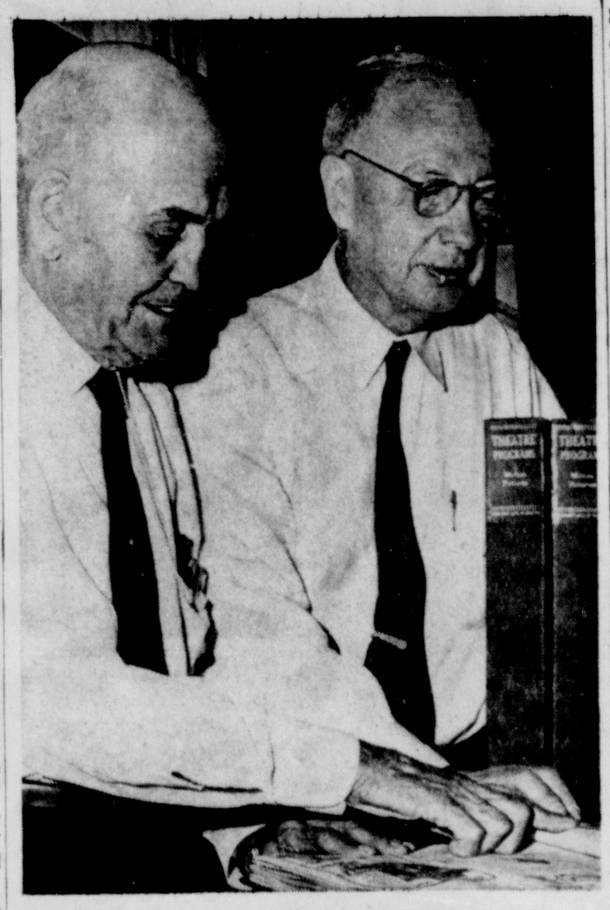
Soviet Skipper Held In Fisheries Charge

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Soviet trawler skipper Daniel Baronik remained in the Alaska state jail Saturday in lieu of $10,000 bail after he was charged Friday with violation of the exclusive 12-mile U.S. fisheries zone.

Baronik appeared before U.S. Commissioner James Hanson who set bail and ordered the Russian held. Arraignment was postponed until Monday to permit the arrival of Soviet Embassy officials from Washington.

Baronik's vessel was seized by the Coast Guard Thursday after a three-mile chase north of Akutan Island in the Aleutians and escorted to Dutch Harbor. Baronik and a crew member were flown here Friday.

Barth Collection Donated To Pitt



Harold B. Barth, left, and Dr. Ford E. Curtis, professor emeritus of the English Department at the University of Pittsburgh, are shown examining part of the vast collection of theater programs and scrapbooks Barth has donated to the theater section of a new library now under construction at Pitt.

Curtis says the works will be known as the "Harold B. Barth Collection" and will retain a separate identity from other groups of memorabilia in the Curtis Library portion of the new building.

Forty or 50 scrapbooks, crammed with theater, ballet and other reviews of the arts, were included along with a similar number of program volumes.

Curtis has termed the gift "one of the largest yet received".

The collection spans from playbills of Pittsburgh and East Liverpool showings in the late 19th century, to New York Times theater reviews only weeks old. They had been stored in the Historical Society in the Carnegie Library.

Both men have indicated their pleasure at the thought of thousands of drama students being able to enjoy such a treasure trove of writings on the American theater.

How Can I?

Q.—How can I prolong the life of some of my rusty house gutters?

A.—After cleaning out the insides of these gutters thoroughly with a wire brush, give them a coat of roofing cement, after which apply a layer of heavy, deep-freezer aluminum foil over the cement before it has dried.

A beverage truck and an auto, both passing other vehicles, collided Friday afternoon on Route 30, south of the intersection with Route 7.

The truck, operated by Chester T. Dubiel, 36, of Youngstown, was hit by a 1964 coach driven by Clarence E. Chandler, 21, of Amherst.

'Will Keep Going,' 'Director' Declares

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Black Power advocate who claims to be director of Nashville's "Liberation School" says the federal government "can keep their funds—we're going to continue operating."

Fred H. Brooks, leader of Nashville's Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee chapter, said Friday the school will operate on local contributions if charges that the school teaches hatred of whites lead to a cutoff of federal funds.

Police Capt. John A. Sorace told the Senate Judiciary Committee in Washington Thursday that the antipoverty school teaches "pure, unadulterated hatred of the white race."

Brooks, a husky 20-year-old Detroit Negro, answered Sorace Friday night.

"I think Sorace is a racist. He should be killed," Brooks said. "He no longer serves a function in society. He ought to be put away somewhere. He's insane."

Asked to amplify, Brooks said, "I think any man who resorts to lying to this country about what's going on in the black community should be killed. He's a traitor." Sorace could not be reached for comment.

The Eastern District County Court at East Palestine today said an error had been made in issuing a bench warrant for Gene T. Gilbert of Stagecoach Rd. on a traffic charge, and that a bond had been posted by Gilbert and subsequently forfeited.

Officials said Friday the warrant had been issued for Gilbert — cited on a charge of failure to halt for a stop sign — because he did not appear for a Thursday hearing. However, Gilbert had previously posted a $15 bond at the Lisbon Court, but the information had not been subsequently noted at the East Palestine office.

Scientific tests have proved that laughter reduces muscular tension, relaxes the tissues, and stimulates the muscles and organs of the body by introducing more adrenal fluid into the bloodstream.

Temporary Surcharge A Myth

The most misleading word in President Johnson's proposal for a 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes is "temporary."

The surcharge, he says, would expire June 30, 1969, or "continue for so long as the unusual expenditures associated with our efforts in Vietnam require higher revenues."

Every prediction we have seen about the war states irrevocably that it could drag on for years and years.

We don't need an expert to tell us the cost of the war won't be going down during those years.

The President also has asked that scheduled drops in manufacturers excise taxes and telephone service excise tax be postponed and a speedup in corporate tax collections.

The measures are aimed at gathering more revenue to finance a major, but undeclared war that has touched off bitter opposition by many American citizens.

Some of these opposing Americans also are members of the U.S. Congress. Outspoken criticism and quiet anxiety over the war will be influential as Congress takes up the question of the tax surcharge.

The President's earlier proposal of a 6 per cent surcharge failed to get much sympathy in Congress. The difference now, of course, is the fact war costs have continued upward and the United States is faced with a staggering deficit.

Congressmen are going to have to make a binding decision concerning the future of the Vietnam War. Once the money is committed, it will be poured into the military venture in the escalation pattern already set.

If congressmen are interested in a different approach to Vietnam strategy, they will shelve the request for more money and bring forth a program of their own for the President to consider.

Chances are they will make a lot of noise about the tax increase, pare it a little, then approve it.

Eventually the surcharge will become permanent. For as everyone who has received a raise knows, the increase is quickly absorbed in the household budget, and it would be extremely difficult to retreat to a lower wage level after a few months.

The Hidden Hazard

Pittsburghers, who have performed minor miracles in modernizing their downtown and getting rid of the 'Smoky City' image, have been shocked to learn Pa Pitt still has bad breath.

Government air pollution experts have ranked Pittsburgh the sixth dirtiest manufacturing area in the U.S.

Smoke control has reduced the heavy smog incidence, but other pollutants continue to pose a problem for Pittsburgh which is rated behind New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and Cleveland.

So Pittsburghers, who thought they had air pollution control in the bag—just as the Pirates believed they had the pennant halfway up the pole—still have a long way to go.

But looking around our own valley area, air pollution is a continuing problem, and so far little is being done about it. Midland is a prime example of real smoke and air pollution, but Crucible Steel Co. is planning new controls to alleviate the situation.

In East Liverpool, there is need for smoke control plus curbs on vehicle exhaust gases—particularly on the noxious fumes which pour from some buses.

Authorities should take steps soon for the enforcement of present regulations governing air pollution, and map plans for meeting the growing contamination throughout the district, part of the national trend.

Setting A Table For Communism

Depending upon who is doing the talking, one can hear that outside influence in city rioting ranges from bare minimum to complete planning and execution.

As the fabric of hatred, blood, arson, theft, destruction, poverty, frustration, envy, brutality, scorn, filth, aimlessness and ghettoism is unraveled, a wide variation of opinions is uncovered.

It is not surprising that someone looking for a quick answer proclaims Communist conspiracy guides the riots.

There is always someone ready to point an accusing finger at Communism for every ill in the United States. These people give Communism credit for a lot more than it actually is able to accomplish.

In 1963, when Congress was struggling with President Kennedy's civil rights program to insure every American the rights set forth in the Constitution, the highest ideals of freedom and democracy were at play.

When legislative hearings opened June 26, 1963, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy presented the administration's program by saying the bill "will go a long way toward redeeming the pledges upon which this Republic was founded — pledges that all are created equal, that they are endowed equally with inalienable rights and are entitled to equal opportunity in the pursuit of their daily lives."

What did Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi think about that program? He accused Pres. Kennedy and Atty. Gen. Kennedy of aiding a "world Communist conspiracy to divide and conquer" the United States.

Later, Arkansas Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett repeated the charge that the desegregation movement and civil rights demonstrations were "Communist inspired."

Proper perspective is a handy item to have around when trying to get a measurement on Negro riots.

To say all the disorders are completely free of Communist activity would be as inaccurate a statement as declaring all the riots are organized and carried out under Communist direction.

The ghetto is a perfect spot to spout the Communist line of redistribution of upper class wealth.

Just as you can only lead a horse to water, but not make him drink, you also can set a table of Communism before someone and not force him to eat.

Saying there is Communist activity in the ghettoes of the United States does not mean it is a guiding force.

The real disgrace is that in America, the land of plenty, a situation exists that begs for Communist exploitation.

What's An Auto Tag Worth?

It now seems likely that auto license fees will soar from $10 to $20 — 100 per cent — before this session of the General Assembly finishes its taxing orgy.

Ohio this year is hitting taxpayers so hard with the revenue hammer it may deaden the pain of what Congress is about to do with a thumping income tax boost.

A proposed 100 per cent increase in auto tag costs is just part of the punishment in prospect for Ohioans. But it is the one place where the increase is going to be in plain sight — where the practice of charging of ever-higher costs for ever-wider services can be examined for what it is.

An additional $5 collected by the state would pay for more highway patrolmen and higher pay for highway patrolmen.

It also is in the works to clip Ohio auto operators for more money, to pay for driver education, which should be privately financed.

An additional $5 for auto tags would be turned back to the counties, all of it presumably for county highway improvement. But if experience is a guide in these matters, hard-pressed counties would be juggling funds to divert some of this "easy money" into off-highway uses.

Ohioans will pay $20 instead of $10 for auto tags if that is to be the going price. They would pay $40 if they had to.

But as the price goes up, along with the total of autos, the temptation will be strong to divert revenue into non-highway uses. It must be resisted. Auto revenue must be kept out of the boarding-house reach of the revenue grabbers.

Purely Personal Observations

I consider it to be a triumph that I have not been on an outdoor picnic in recent years, because I take the position my ancestors strove for centuries to ingest their food in comfort and it is absurd for me to undermine their success.

Town mice may not find this interesting, but out in the country the corn is this high and getting ready to tassel. What do you think of that, town mice?

I walked upstairs this morning behind one of the chickadees in our establishment. She was wearing the miniest mini-skirt I have seen so far and my neck is still stiff from bending it backward to keep my eyes from falling out.

I doubt there is any human emotion more tender than the unalloyed love of a doting grandmother for her grandson, especially if he gives her special reason to be doting, such as writing nice letters to her.

Pigeons in U.S. cities, except possibly San Francisco, are regarded as a nuisance. Yet Americans traveling abroad ooh and aah bout the pigeons in places like St. Mark's. Must be because they're Italian pigeons.

My heart does not bleed for tavern keepers whose premises get busted up by customers in drunken brawls. I don't even feel sorry for Miss Kitty when it happens to her pub on nights when Marshal Dillon is out of town.

I hope no one will impale himself on a cardboard spear over this, but I think Picadilly Palace, with excruciatingly funny Ernie Wise and his sidekick Eric Morecambe, is No. 1 and Hollywood Palace its winter replacement.

My heart aches for the men who died aboard the Forrestal and for all the people who loved them. It also is bleeding for people in Vietnam who otherwise would have been killed and maimed by the bombs the Forrestal's planes now will not drop on them.

'Don't Worry; It's In A Good Cause!'

VICTOR RIESEL

Delay In Auto Strike Seen

DETROIT — Walter Reuther and his embattled colleagues may well be able to lend the bulk of their $65 million stike fund to this city's poor—especially those evicted from their homes by arsonists' flames. The auto union, it seems, will have little need for its huge war chest now that those flames have burned up Reuther's strategy as well as sections of the car-making metropolis.

Victor Riesel

Insiders believe it inconceivable that the United Auto Workers (UAW) will strike one or all of the Big Three corporations on Sept. 6, contract expiration date, and thus inflict disaster upon disaster. The day after Labor Day will be too soon to shut the big factories and throw, among others, 100,000 Negro workers onto the still scorched streets.

Pressures from the White House on both sides will be awesome. So the rust-haired leader is expected to pull a cliff-hanger and call everybody back for the next chapter in the serial. There will be an armistice, but not for too long. Sometime in the early fall—after the cool of the long hot summer—Reuther will make a stand on two issues:

The auto union will fight for a "heavy wage increase" and for "a new system of earlier retirement and pensions at higher rates."

THERE HAVE BEEN a series of polls, some of the union's regional officials and one by a professional New York opinion sampler, which show that the United Auto Workers' rank and file want the physical comforts which more money can buy and the psychological comfort of guaranteed retirement security.

The professional poll was taken in the past 60 days. In effect, it asked the membership which were the issues worth striking for and for how long. Even those under 30 went for the retirement demand.

The public will hear much of the famous Reuther rhetoric about guaranteed incomes and a switch to the system of permanent salaries for blue as well as white collar workers. But these speeches will be the curtain raisers to Hamlet-like soliloquoes.

For the moment the auto union rank and file is not getting emotional over the guaranteed annual wage. They've practically got it. The terror is out of the job. In the old days, layoffs during tooling up for new models were the time for worry and saving of breadcrusts in the auto cities. But now the layoffs have a ball. They get Special Unemployment Benefits, unemployment insurance, and vacation pay. This gives them all but a few dollars of their regular take-home pay. And a big chunk of the summer off. They look forward to it, the young workers do. What was once a catastrophe becomes a grand holiday.

Furthermore, during the rest of the year there are similar income guarantees so that it would take only a few cents more for the companies to hike their production workers' guaranteed income. Insiders say this will be no problem.

THE POLL'S THE THING. Those reports now on Reuther's desk disclose that his people want that earlier retirement. They still seek more relief time and longer lunch periods. But basically they want to get away from the mills and assembly lines—permanently and younger.

So, Reuther and his fantastically computer-minded technicians even are talking about some employes' retirement at 50 under special circumstances, wide retirement at 55 (without loss of benefits they would gain if they worked into their 60s), and bigger payments all along the line. There is a complex system called the "65-points" rule won during the last go-round in '64. Frequently it permits auto workers to retire at up to 70 per cent of their previously earned annual income. Now Reuther wants that heavily increased.

Nor is he ignoring any past retirees. He wants them included in any new increased pension systems—regardless of when they retired from the auto companies' hire.

So there are the fronts on which Reuther and company will fight. Those polls showed a "surprising number" of workers demanding earlier retirement and so Reuther will heed the surveys. The issues will be sharpened after the conferees get out of what UAW Ford Council Director Ken Nannon calls the "nitty-gritty" stage of negotiations, during which each side probes the other's weaknesses.

They'll all be laboring over Labor Day weekend. The issues are clear—money and a secure middle-age type of retirement for the younger multitudes to dream about.

Only Reuther's timetable still is in doubt.

Commitment

J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, Democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has started a new controversy between the executive and legislative branches of the government over the making of foreign policy.

He has introduced a resolution which would take away from the president many of the powers he now has to conduct the foreign relations of the United Sates.

The Arkansas senator denies this is his objective, but his resolution calls for a declaration by Congress that hereafter no "commitment" made by the president or his ambassadors shall be considered valid without the approval of Congress.

The proposed resolution defines the word "commitment" as follows:

"A NATIONAL commitment by the United States to a foreign power necessarily and exclusively results from affirmative action taken by the executive and legislative branches of the United States government through means of a treaty, convention or other legislative instrumentality specifically intended to give effect to such a commitment."

This means the president of the United States would be powerless to make any kind of diplomatic agreement whatsoever with a foreign government without approval by at least the Senate.

Ever since the Republic was founded, presidents of the United States have made declarations of foreign policy which have not been considered as treaties or conventions requiring ratification by the Senate. Even the Monroe Doctrine was an executive declaration.

The conduct of foreign policy would be paralyzed if a president of the United States had to take up with the Senate or both houses of Congress any "commitment" he might make during the course of diplomatic interchanges with other governments.

IT IS TRUE that the chief executive again and again in past decades has sent troops to quell disorders in which the lives and property of American citizens were threatened. Often there has not been time to consult Congress, and military forces have had to be ordered into combat overnight.

When such an episode has required an extensive military operation, it has been customary to ask Congress for a formal resolution of support.

Sometimes, as in the case of the Korean War, a treaty already made—the United Nations Charter—contains a broad commitment to help defend victims of aggression. In the North Atlantic Treaty, moreover, the United States is committed to enter war instantly when any member country is attacked.

But what Sen. Fulbright proposes is that no "commitment," even if not specifically mentioned but implied in a treaty, shall be considered legal hereafter without affirmative action and approval by the legislative branch of the government.

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is really advocating a modification of the Constitution.

Yet he has not introduced any constitutional amendment, as is customary when a profound change is made in the American system of government.

The present system permits the widest possible expression of opinion by members of Congress if they dissent from the foreign policy carried on by the president.

THEY HAVE POWER to withhold appropriations. They can adopt a resolution formally expressing their adverse opinion, and this would be given attention not only in the United States but throughout the world.

Sen. Fulbright insists there has been a gradual erosion of the role of Congress, and particularly the Senate, in the determination of national security policy.

But this is not the fault of the president. Congress—especially the Senate—has a right to express itself on foreign policy, and many members have done so in connection with the Vietnam War, as well as other involvements.

To say all the disorders are completely free of Communist activity would be as inaccurate a statement as declaring all the riots are organized and carried out under Communist direction.

The ghetto is a perfect spot to spout the Communist line of redistribution of upper class wealth.

Just as you can only lead a horse to water, but not make him drink, you also can set a table of Communism before someone and not force him to eat.

Saying there is Communist activity in the ghettoes of the United States does not mean it is a guiding force.

The real disgrace is that in America, the land of plenty, a situation exists that begs for Communist exploitation.

What's An Auto Tag Worth?

It now seems likely that auto license fees will soar from $10 to $20 — 100 per cent — before this session of the General Assembly finishes its taxing orgy.

Ohio this year is hitting taxpayers so hard with the revenue hammer it may deaden the pain of what Congress is about to do with a thumping income tax boost.

A proposed 100 per cent increase in auto tag costs is just part of the punishment in prospect for Ohioans. But it is the one place where the increase is going to be in plain sight — where the practice of charging of ever-higher costs for ever-wider services can be examined for what it is.

An additional $5 collected by the state would pay for more highway patrolmen and higher pay for highway patrolmen.

It also is in the works to clip Ohio auto operators for more money, to pay for driver education, which should be privately financed.

An additional $5 for auto tags would be turned back to the counties, all of it presumably for county highway improvement. But if experience is a guide in these matters, hard-pressed counties would be juggling funds to divert some of this "easy money" into off-highway uses.

Ohioans will pay $20 instead of $10 for auto tags if that is to be the going price. They would pay $40 if they had to.

But as the price goes up, along with the total of autos, the temptation will be strong to divert revenue into non-highway uses. It must be resisted. Auto revenue must be kept out of the boarding-house reach of the revenue grabbers.

TRUMAN TWILL

Purely Personal Observations

I consider it to be a triumph that I have not been on an outdoor picnic in recent years, because I take the position my ancestors strove for centuries to ingest their food in comfort and it is absurd for me to undermine their success.

Town mice may not find this interesting, but out in the country the corn is this high and getting ready to tassel. What do you think of that, town mice?

I walked upstairs this morning behind one of the chickadees in our establishment. She was wearing the miniest mini-skirt I have seen so far and my neck is still stiff from bending it backward to keep my eyes from falling out.

I doubt there is any human emotion more tender than the unalloyed love of a doting grandmother for her grandson, especially if he gives her special reason to be doting, such as writing nice letters to her.

Pigeons in U.S. cities, except possibly San Francisco, are regarded as a nuisance. Yet Americans traveling abroad ooh and aah bout the pigeons in places like St. Mark's. Must be because they're Italian pigeons.

My heart does not bleed for tavern keepers whose premises get busted up by customers in drunken brawls. I don't even feel sorry for Miss Kitty when it happens to her pub on nights when Marshal Dillon is out of town.

I hope no one will impale himself on a cardboard spear over this, but I think Picadilly Palace, with excruciatingly funny Ernie Wise and his sidekick Eric Morecambe, is No. 1 and Hollywood Palace its winter replacement.

My heart aches for the men who died aboard the Forrestal and for all the people who loved them. It also is bleeding for people in Vietnam who otherwise would have been killed and maimed by the bombs the Forrestal's planes now will not drop on them.

VICTOR RIESEL

Delay In Auto Strike Seen

DETROIT — Walter Reuther and his embattled colleagues may well be able to lend the bulk of their $65 million stike fund to this city's poor—especially those evicted from their homes by arsonists' flames. The auto union, it seems, will have little need for its huge war chest now that those flames have burned up Reuther's strategy as well as sections of the car-making metropolis.

Victor Riesel

Insiders believe it inconceivable that the United Auto Workers (UAW) will strike one or all of the Big Three corporations on Sept. 6, contract expiration date, and thus inflict disaster upon disaster. The day after Labor Day will be too soon to shut the big factories and throw, among others, 100,000 Negro workers onto the still scorched streets.

Pressures from the White House on both sides will be awesome. So the rust-haired leader is expected to pull a cliff-hanger and call everybody back for the next chapter in the serial. There will be an armistice, but not for too long. Sometime in the early fall—after the cool of the long hot summer—Reuther will make a stand on two issues:

The auto union will fight for a "heavy wage increase" and for "a new system of earlier retirement and pensions at higher rates."

THERE HAVE BEEN a series of polls, some of the union's regional officials and one by a professional New York opinion sampler, which show that the United Auto Workers' rank and file want the physical comforts which more money can buy and the psychological comfort of guaranteed retirement security.

The professional poll was taken in the past 60 days. In effect, it asked the membership which were the issues worth striking for and for how long. Even those under 30 went for the retirement demand.

The public will hear much of the famous Reuther rhetoric about guaranteed incomes and a switch to the system of permanent salaries for blue as well as white collar workers. But these speeches will be the curtain raisers to Hamlet-like soliloquoes.

For the moment the auto union rank and file is not getting emotional over the guaranteed annual wage. They've practically got it. The terror is out of the job. In the old days, layoffs during tooling up for new models were the time for worry and saving of breadcrusts in the auto cities. But now the layoffs have a ball. They get Special Unemployment Benefits, unemployment insurance, and vacation pay. This gives them all but a few dollars of their regular take-home pay. And a big chunk of the summer off. They look forward to it, the young workers do. What was once a catastrophe becomes a grand holiday.

Furthermore, during the rest of the year there are similar income guarantees so that it would take only a few cents more for the companies to hike their production workers' guaranteed income. Insiders say this will be no problem.

THE POLL'S THE THING. Those reports now on Reuther's desk disclose that his people want that earlier retirement. They still seek more relief time and longer lunch periods. But basically they want to get away from the mills and assembly lines—permanently and younger.

So, Reuther and his fantastically computer-minded technicians even are talking about some employes' retirement at 50 under special circumstances, wide retirement at 55 (without loss of benefits they would gain if they worked into their 60s), and bigger payments all along the line. There is a complex system called the "85-points" rule won during the last go-round in '64. Frequently it permits auto workers to retire at up to 70 per cent of their previously earned annual income. Now Reuther wants that heavily increased.

Nor is he ignoring any past retirees. He wants them included in any new increased pension systems—regardless of when they retired from the auto companies' hire.

So there are the fronts on which Reuther and company will fight. Those polls showed a "surprising number" of workers demanding earlier retirement and so Reuther will heed the surveys. The issues will be sharpened after the conferees get out of what UAW Ford Council Director Ken Nannon calls the "nitty-gritty" stage of negotiations, during which each side probes the other's weaknesses.

They'll all be laboring over Labor Day weekend. The issues are clear—money and a secure middle-age type of retirement for the younger multitudes to dream about.

Only Reuther's timetable still is in doubt.

DAVID LAWRENCE

Commitment

J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, Democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has started a new controversy between the executive and legislative branches of the government over the making of foreign policy.

He has introduced a resolution which would take away from the president many of the powers he now has to conduct the foreign relations of the United Sates.

The Arkansas senator denies this is his objective, but his resolution calls for a declaration by Congress that hereafter no "commitment" made by the president or his ambassadors shall be considered valid without the approval of Congress.

The proposed resolution defines the word "commitment" as follows:

"A NATIONAL commitment by the United States to a foreign power necessarily and exclusively results from affirmative action taken by the executive and legislative branches of the United States government through means of a treaty, convention or other legislative instrumentality specifically intended to give effect to such a commitment."

This means the president of the United States would be powerless to make any kind of diplomatic agreement whatsoever with a foreign government without approval by at least the Senate.

Ever since the Republic was founded, presidents of the United States have made declarations of foreign policy which have not been considered as treaties or conventions requiring ratification by the Senate. Even the Monroe Doctrine was an executive declaration.

The conduct of foreign policy would be paralyzed if a president of the United States had to take up with the Senate or both houses of Congress any "commitment" he might make during the course of diplomatic interchanges with other governments.

IT IS TRUE that the chief executive again and again in past decades has sent troops to quell disorders in which the lives and property of American citizens were threatened. Often there has not been time to consult Congress, and military forces have had to be ordered into combat overnight.

When such an episode has required an extensive military operation, it has been customary to ask Congress for a formal resolution of support.

Sometimes, as in the case of the Korean War, a treaty already made—the United Nations Charter--contains a broad commitment to help defend victims of aggression. In the North Atlantic Treaty, moreover, the United States is committed to enter war instantly when any member country is attacked.

But what Sen. Fulbright proposes is that no "commitment," even if not specifically mentioned but implied in a treaty, shall be considered legal hereafter without affirmative action and approval by the legislative branch of the government.

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is really advocating a modification of the Constitution.

Yet he has not introduced any constitutional amendment, as is customary when a profound change is made in the American system of government.

The present system permits the widest possible expression of opinion by members of Congress if they dissent from the foreign policy carried on by the president.

THEY HAVE POWER to withhold appropriations. They can adopt a resolution formally expressing their adverse opinion, and this would be given attention not only in the United States but throughout the world.

Sen. Fulbright insists there has been a gradual erosion of the role of Congress, and particularly the Senate, in the determination of national security policy.

But this is not the fault of the president. Congress—especially the Senate—has a right to express itself on foreign policy, and many members have done so in connection with the Vietnam War, as well as other involvements.

Damages Set At $1,000 In 4-Car Crash

An estimated $1,000 damage resulted from a four - car collision Friday afternoon in Newell.

Volunteers' Duties Outlined For Jefferson Health Clinic

"Restoring and maintaining the dignity of the individual" will be the major duty of volunteers who assembled in the Jefferson County Mental Health Clinic at Steubenville Thursday night for an inaugural meeting.

Dr. Ferdinand J. Manalac, director, told the new volunteers they will be involved in three phases of activity between their initial commitment and the time they will function usefully.

The first would be reading and learning "your part", the psychiatrist said. He indicated they will have to have a knowledge of human behavior and personality to handle the various types of individuals who may benefit from the clinic.

Secondly, courtesy must be learned, he said, because "without basic friendship there can be no positive emotions."

And finally, Manalac stated, "continuous planning for the realization of projects" must be maintained.

A total of 25 committees has been established to coordinate the volunteer activities, which are under the sponsorship of the Mental Health Association.

A future meeting is planned to elect officers and select a name.

Man's Complaint Reported Placed With State Board

No formal action has been taken by the East Liverpool Human Relations Commission concerning a tavern incident which was referred to the commission in a complaint, Mayor George Willshaw said today.

An East End man claimed he and a friend were objects of discrimination July 24 when they purchased beer in a downtown tavern.

Mayor Willshaw said the principals in the incident, including the waitress, appeared before the commission this week. No formal recommendations were made, but some suggestions were offered.

The mayor said, however, the man has indicated he has filed a complaint with the Ohio Liquor Control Board, and consequently, the Human Relations Commission does not consider itself involved in the case now because it has become a formal state complaint.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—What can I do about the inside of one of my aluminum kitchen vessels that is beginning to turn black?

A.—Slowly stew some acid food (rhubarb, tomatoes, etc.) in the vessel, and watch the sparkle return. And the food itself won't be harmed either.

Q.—How can I make a good liquid furniture polish?

A.—Melt together one pound of white ceresin wax, three ounces of laundry soap, after which stir into the solution two and one-half pints of turpentine or mineral spirits. When this mixture has been completed, stir in two pints of warm water to form a creamy paste, which is then rubbed into the furniture with a damp cloth. To finish, rub the surface with a soft, dry, lintless cloth.

Q.—How can I remove fingernail polish or airplane glue from fabrics?

A.—If you'll rub fingernail polish remover on the opposite side of the material, the polish or glue will usually peel off readily.

Q.—How can I "dirt-proof" my brick fireplace?

A.—Keep it clean easily by brushing the surface with liquid wax. Then, when dust gathers, it can be readily wiped off.

Q.—How can I concoct a good "homemade" silver polish?

A.—Procure a little loose prepared chalk from your druggist and make a paste out of this by mixing with ammonia in a small jar. Rub this on your silverware with a rough cloth, rinse in piping hot water, dry it briskly, and the job is done. Or, it's possible sometimes to polish silverware without using polish —just by boiling a handful of rhubarb in a quart of water, putting your silver into this for five minutes, then rinsing in clear, hot water, and wiping dry.

Q. — How can I make a good substitute for whipped cream?

A. — By grating one apple, adding two or three tablespoons of sugar and one egg white, then beating until light.

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION

THE PEOPLE OF BEREA

In the 17th chapter of the book of Acts we read about Paul and Silas coming to the city of Thessalonica and while they were in the city they reasoned with the people from the Scriptures. They used the Scriptures to prove that Jesus is the Christ, the son of God. However, the Jews that did not believe, moved with envy against them. Paul and Silas then moved on to the city of Berea. This statement is then made about the people of Berea in Acts 17:11. "These were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, and searched the scriptures daily, whether those things were so."

Their willingness to hear the word of God and the fact that they searched the Scriptures to see if they were being taught truth, are the characteristics that caused an inspired man to speak of them as being noble. Do you possess these qualities? If not, it would be wise to develop them.

All of us should have an eagerness to hear the word of God. Jesus said, "Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness; for they shall be filled." Mt. 5:6. Thus, our desire to hear the Word of God is compared to our appetite. We should have a hunger for knowledge of the truth. Many have never developed this quality This can be easily seen by the fact that so many people do not attend the public services of the Lord's church. Even though God's word is being taught, they do not desire to hear it. Where will you be tomorrow at the time for the public services of the church? Will you let earthly things turn you away from learning more about God's word?

A second quality possessed by the people of Berea is that they would not take just anything that the preacher taught without first going to the Scriptures and seeing if he was telling the truth. Dear friends, it is extremely dangerous to trust your salvation into the hands of some man without checking to see if he is telling the truth. The Bible abounds in warnings against false teachings and false ways. Jesus warned, "Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing but inwardly they are ravening wolves." Mt. 7:15. It is thus clearly seen why John exhorts us to try or test the teachers who teach us. If a man is teaching the truth, he would be most happy if people would study daily to see if they are being told truth. However, if the preacher is teaching something that cannot be backed by the word of God, he will do everything he can to discourage study.

Do you possess these qualities that the people of Berea had?

Volunteers' Duties Outlined For Jefferson Health Clinic

"Restoring and maintaining the dignity of the individual" will be the major duty of volunteers who assembled in the Jefferson County Mental Health Clinic at Steubenville Thursday night for an inaugural meeting.

Dr. Ferdinand J. Manalac, director, told the new volunteers they will be involved in three phases of activity between their initial commitment and the time they will function usefully.

The first would be reading and learning "your part", the psychiatrist said. He indicated they will have to have a knowledge of human behavior and personality to handle the various types of individuals who may benefit from the clinic.

Secondly, courtesy must be learned, he said, because "without basic friendship there can be no positive emotions."

And finally, Manalac stated, "continuous planning for the realization of projects" must be maintained.

A total of 25 committees has been established to coordinate the volunteer activities, which are under the sponsorship of the Mental Health Association.

A future meeting is planned to elect officers and select a name.

Local Student's Paintings Will Be Displayed Abroad

Entries by two local students are among those selected for exhibition in the American Red Cross International School Art Program.

"Night Work," by Mike Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ross of Walker Rd., will be forwarded to the National Red Cross for inclusion in a foreign exhibit and "American Architecture" by Miss Eleanor Nicastro, daughter of Mrs. Josephine Nicastro of Gilson Ave., will be displayed in Hawaiian schools.

The works were selected by a school art committee at Philadelphia from a total of 667 paintings.

Ross and Miss Nicastro were graduated in June from East Liverpool High School.

Miss Mildred McGregor, chairman of the area chapter's Red Cross Youth program, said this marks the first year that local schools have participated in the art program, which is co-sponsored by the National Art Education Association and the National Red Cross. Seven entries of high school students were submitted by the local chapter to the regional screening committee at Philadelphia.

Both young artists have received congratulatory letters from Truman Solverud, manager of the Eastern Area Headquarters, American Red Cross, Alexandria, Va., who pointed out "the purpose of the program is to promote international understanding, especially among young, through various media of art, and that the local pictures will be seen by many people and will serve as effective ambassadors of good will."

Personalities In The News

ROME, (AP) — After a week of working nearly nude in a high wind with 2,000 birds actress Jane Fonda wound up in bed today running a temperature.

Doctors didn't know whether it was a virus she might have caught from the birds. They prescribed medicine and ordered her to rest.

Her encounter with the birds was for a scene in the picture "Barbarella" she is doing in Rome under the direction of her husband, Roger Vadim.

The scene calls for a swarm of wrens in a huge cage to rip her clothes off with their bills.

In the stifling Rome heat the birds refused to budge, so technicians fixed up a huge fan under the floor to blow them against Miss Fonda.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Frank Sinatra, who has been barred from Mexico for more than a year because a movie he made assertedly disparaged the country and its people, will be allowed to re-enter, the government announced Friday.

The Interior Ministry said it was lifting the ban at the request of the government's directorate of motion pictures that sought "to continue the good relations now existing between the film industries of the United States and Mexico."

PLYMOUTH, England (AP)—William Wallace of Houston, Tex., celebrated his solo crossing of the Atlantic in his fiberglass boat by strolling into a pub Friday and downing a pint of beer.

Wallace, 37, commented on his 41-day, 3,000 mile voyage:

"It was a perfect trip. I slept every night, plenty to eat and there was no damage to the boat. It was almost dull."

Wallace had his 2,240-pound craft, the Hester, towed to Marion, Mass. He took off June 24. The boat had a radio receiver but no trnsmitter.

Wllace, a eacher at St. John's school in Houston, intends to fly home for the fall term.

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Triplets are getting together Sunday to observe their 80th birthdays.

They are Mrs. Tom Clay of Lubbock, Mrs. Cora Comer of Plainview and G.C. Adamas of Ardmore, Okla.

Both Mrs. Clay and Mrs. Comer are mother of twins.

When the triplets were six weeks old in 1887, they were shown at the state fair in Dallas.

The triplets will be honored at a luncheon and reception at a Lubbock church on their birthday anniversaries.

When Jack Sinclair retired, he took his wife on a holiday cruise. They'll be home next week, and I'm certainly going to tell them how much they've been missed here at the church.

Like all ministers, I need a lot of help from my congregation to make our church a happy, inspiring place. Sinclair and his wife are just two of the many older members that keep things running smoothly. I depend on them for good ideas, for experienced administration and, very often, for a wise approach to young people's problems. In return, the Sinclairs have often told me how important their church has been in their lives, and how they both enjoy being needed.

That's one of the great secrets of life, I think . . . to be needed. And there isn't a church anywhere that doesn't have a real need for "senior citizens" to help with God's work.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Personalities In The News

ROME, (AP) — After a week of working nearly nude in a high wind with 2,000 birds actress Jane Fonda wound up in bed today running a temperature.

Doctors didn't know whether it was a virus she might have caught from the birds. They prescribed medicine and ordered her to rest.

Her encounter with the birds was for a scene in the picture "Barbarella" she is doing in Rome under the direction of her husband, Roger Vadim.

The scene calls for a swarm of wrens in a huge cage to rip her clothes off with their bills.

In the stifling Rome heat the birds refused to budge, so technicians fixed up a huge fan under the floor to blow them against Miss Fonda.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Frank Sinatra, who has been barred from Mexico for more than a year because a movie he made assertedly disparaged the country and its people, will be allowed to re-enter, the government announced Friday.

The Interior Ministry said it was lifting the ban at the request of the government's directorate of motion pictures that sought "to continue the good relations now existing between the film industries of the United States and Mexico."

PLYMOUTH, England (AP)— William Wallace of Houston, Tex., celebrated his solo crossing of the Atlantic in his fiberglass boat by strolling into a pub Friday and downing a pint of beer.

Wallace, 37, commented on his 41-day, 3,000 mile voyage:

"It was a perfect trip. I slept every night, plenty to eat and there was no damage to the boat. It was almost dull."

Wallace had his 2,240-pound craft, the Hester, towed to Marion, Mass. He took off June 24. The boat had a radio receiver but no trnsmitter.

Wllace, a eacher at St. John's school in Houston, intends to fly home for the fall term.

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Triplets are getting together Sunday to observe their 80th birthdays.

They are Mrs. Tom Clay of Lubbock, Mrs. Cora Comer of Plainview and G.C. Adamas of Ardmore, Okla.

Both Mrs. Clay and Mrs. Comer are mother of twins.

When the triplets were six weeks old in 1887, they were shown at the state fair in Dallas.

The triplets will be honored at a luncheon and reception at a Lubbock church on their birthday anniversaries.

When Jack Sinclair retired, he took his wife on a holiday cruise. They'll be home next week, and I'm certainly going to tell them how much they've been missed here at the church.

Like all ministers, I need a lot of help from my congregation to make our church a happy, inspiring place. Sinclair and his wife are just two of the many older members that keep things running smoothly. I depend on them for good ideas, for experienced administration and, very often, for a wise approach to young people's problems. In return, the Sinclairs have often told me how important their church has been in their lives, and how they both enjoy being needed.

That's one of the great secrets of life, I think . . . to be needed. And there isn't a church anywhere that doesn't have a real need for "senior citizens" to help with God's work.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
. . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

New Brochure Plugs Tourism

Color Publication Portrays District Beauty, Historical Sites In Bid To Draw More Visitors

By ROBERT POPP

A TOURIST FROM the monotonous brown flatlands of Kansas stands near the brink of the 1,200-foot bluff on Pleasant Heights and gazes enchanted at a vista of thousands of acres of the beautiful Ohio Valley—the river sweeping in a broad green arc, tree-clad hills and white clouds drifting in a flawless blue sky.

"Magnificent," he says. "I never knew Ohio was like this!"

That's the reaction which the Chamber of Commerce and the Community Improvement Corp. are seeking from the first full color brochure ever published with the specific goal of encouraging tourism in the Tri-State Area.

Twenty-five thousand copies of the colorful publication rolled off the presses a short time ago, and the first copies now are being distributed locally and throughout neighboring regions of Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

The basic premise behind the publication goes like this:

Promotion increases tourism. Tourists bring new dollars into the area, spending for items such as food and lodging and souvenirs and services of all kinds.

In addition, it gives the community an opportunity to put its best foot forward for more important visitors—industrialists seeking new plant sites that would mean new job and payrolls. There's always the chance that a casual visitor might be struck by the area's potential to the point that he would investigate the possibility of making it the home for a new industry.

THE BROCHURE will serve many other purposes, of course. It is printed on 8½-x-11-inch paper, folded in such a way that it is just the right size as an enclosure in a business envelope. It can be used as a mailing piece, alone or in combination whit other material, to help answer dozens of inquiries about the area that pour in to the Chamber or the CIC every month.

The front cover seeks to "sell" two of the East Liverpool area's most prized assets—its historic background and the unmatched beauty of the Ohio Valley.

Set off to full advantage by the color work, it shows a typical rural roadway in its autumn glory of brown and gold leaves. The contrasting type calls the reader's attention to the "Scenic, historic East Liverpool area."

As the reader unfolds the brochure, he finds eight color photographs of highlights of the district, with brief accompanying descriptions.

On the back cover, in a deliberate "soft sell" technique, there are two brief paragraphs aimed at industrial prospects and return visits by tour groups.

The text aimed at industrial prospects says:

"Just a minute to tell you we're proud of the industrial potential of our area, where several major manufacturers have located in recent months, further diversifying the line of products.

"Please allow the Chamber of Commerce and the Community Improvement Corp. to tell you more about our strategic location, fine bulk transportation facilities, modern school system any many other advantages too numerous to mention in this brief postscript. You'll receive a warm welcome and intelligent, effective help."

IMMEDIATELY BELOW it is a paragraph urging visitors to return for a longer visit. It says:

"Come back to see us again, as do many individuals and touring groups. They've found a brief stay is interesting and restful, but a longer visit is needed to see all the area's of interest and take advantage of all the recreation facilities. Friendship is a fact, not an empty word, in the Greater East Liverpool area."

A separate map of the district, prepared in the office of George S. Bloomgren, engineer, will be used to help pinpoint the scenic and historic sites pictured in the brochure.

The eight sites and scenes inside are as familiar as their front yard to most Tri-State Area residents, but are intriguing historic spots and veritable panoramas of outdoor beauty to strangers to this area.

The photos show:

The Carnegie Public Library, explaining it houses the East Liverpool Historic Society's outstanding collection of artifacts, including many examples of the work of early potters.

Race Track, with the caption explaining that it also has an adjoining recreation complex.

A VIEW OF the placid Ohio being traversed by an outboard motorboat, with the green shores and hills of West Virginia in the background, illustrating the "unparalleled scenic vista, plus a recreation in the form of boating, fishing and other water sports."

The "point of beginning" monument at the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line on Harvey Ave., marking the site where Thomas Hutchins, first geographer of the U.S., defied hostile Indians to set a stake in 1785 to serve as the initial point for surveying all the public federal lands to the west.

Historic Gaston's Mill in Beaver Creek State Park, where a restoration project will recreate the water-powered grain mill as it was in 1837.

A general view of the Stratton "super dam," one of the first facilities completed in what eventually will be a complete modernization of the system of locks and dams on the inland waterway.

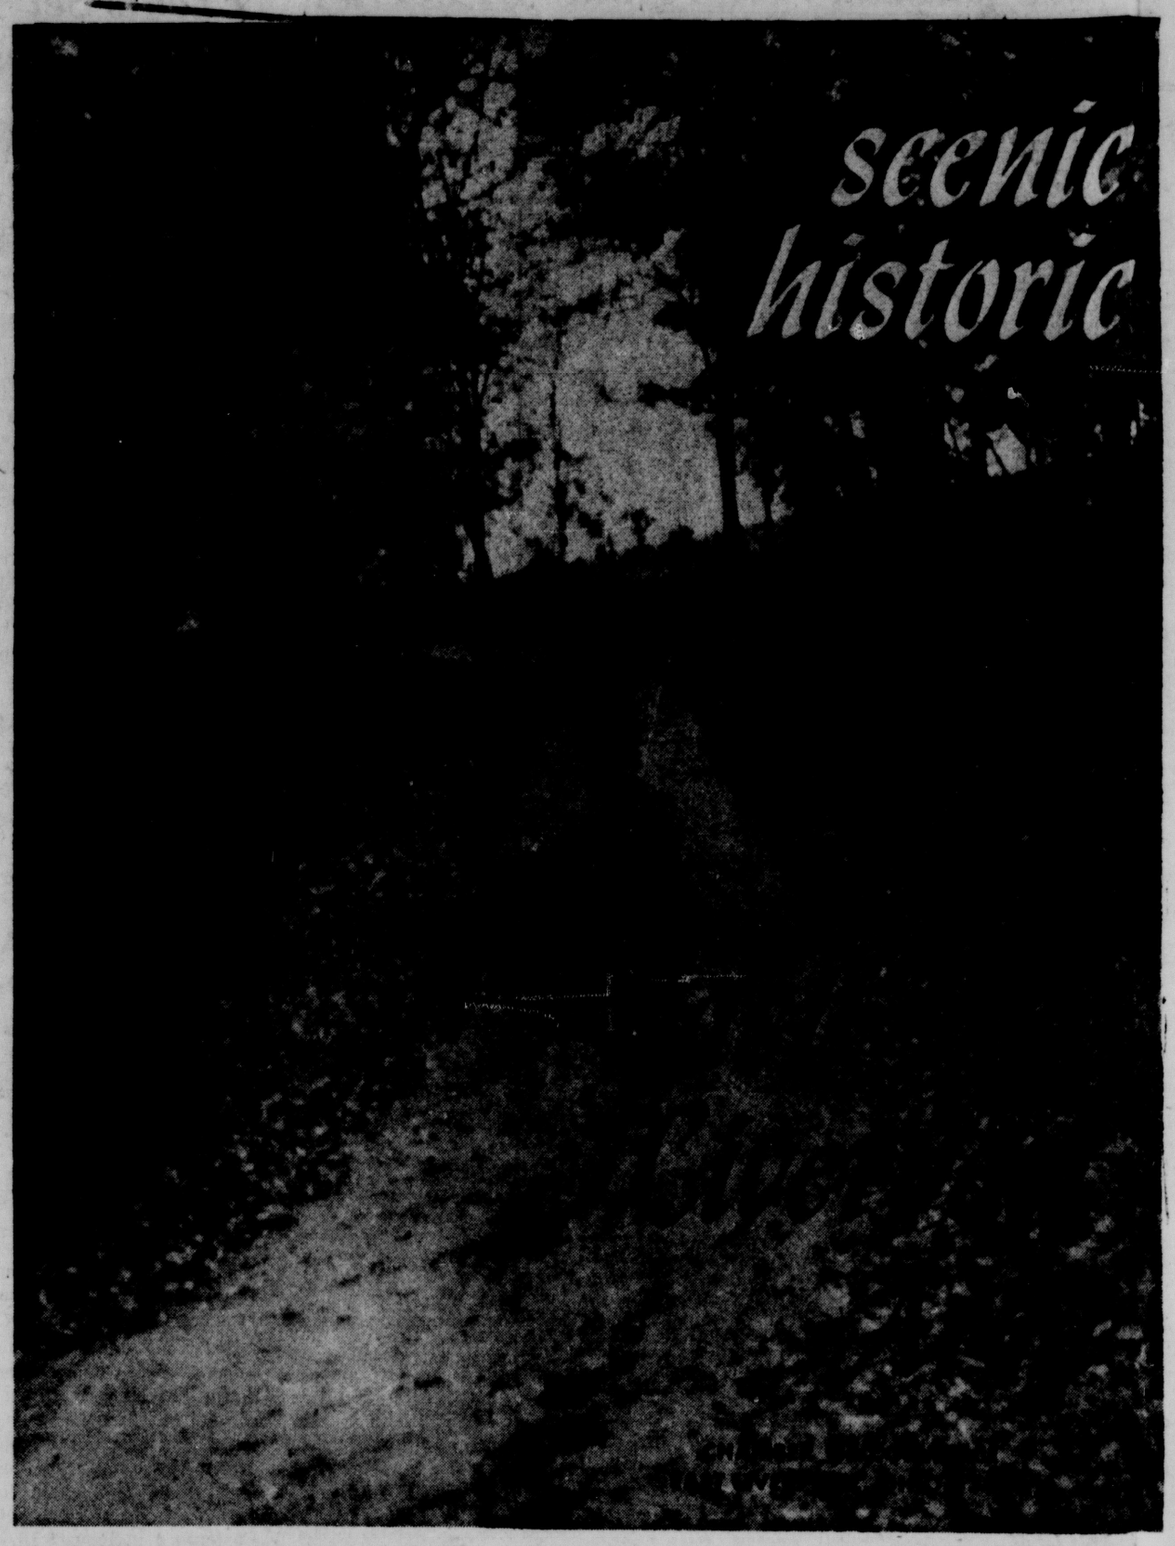
The Lusk Lock, best preserved of the area locks that were part of the historic Sandy & Beaver Canal. The text cites the "craftsmanship of another age" in the handdressed stones in the massive lock walls and explains that construction started in 1834 to link Beaver Creek with Sandy Creek, a tributary of the Tuscarawas River.

Another photograph on the back cover shows a liner at work in a pottery plant. It is used to illustrate the fact that the potteries "steeped in tradition and showing the hallmarks of craftsmanship, offer an outstanding opportunity to the visitor to take a guided tour to see the production of dinnerware that graces the nation's tables."

The introduction to the brochure tells the prospective tourist: "In a brief stop or a long visit, there's much to see and do in this attractive Eastern Ohio area, where three states met at the shores of the majestic Ohio River."

THE IDEA FOR the publication of the tourist promotion brochure dates back several years, but it was not acted upon earnestly until last fall.

The Chamber already had a much larger brochure available for distribution, but it concentrates heavily on industrial prospects—citing reams of statistics on power and tax rates, transportation facilities and the city's location close to major industrial centers and the Ohio Turnpike.



This is the cover of the first full color brochure published with the aim at encouraging tourism development in the Tri-State Area. It is a project of the Chamber of Commerce and the Community Improvement Corp.

It carries photos also extolling the area's historic and scenic sites, but the text is aimed primarily at showing the region's attractiveness to new families, rather than promoting it as a tourist stop-over.

The Chamber and the CIC were seeking a brochure in a convenient size, colorfully illustrated, written and printed, that would concentrate on attracting visitors and at the same time serve to interest industrial prospects in making further inquiries into the district's potential.

The layout and art work were done by Marvin Triguba, director of graphic design at the Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co. Triguba also teaches art in his spare time and does portrait work.

He worked with a series of color slides and photographs that had been snapped throughout the area by members of the East Liverpool Camera Club. The photographs, entered in competition, were judged the best illustrations of the Tri-State District's heritage of history and beauty.

The photo of fall foliage that was to become the cover of the brochure was taken by Ira Sayre. Other pictures used in the brochure were taken by Fred Fisher, William Lowe, Don Eckert and Bob Poole.

THE TEXT accompanying the photographs and other copy describing the area's advantages and attractions was written by Robert F. Popp, The Review's City Hall reporter.

Triguba's layout was done in pastel colors to show the approximate size and position of each of the photographs. Both the layout and the text went through at least one major revision before final approval.

The final revision was under way in April and May. Not long afterward, the MWM Color Press, Inc., of Aurora, Mo., was given a contract to turn out the 25,000 copies of the brochure. The firm specializes in community brochures in color, a type of printing not available locally.

Many helped develop the brochure from the time of the inception of the idea until the text and photos went to the printers. Most active on the committee included George A. Shaw, now president of the Chamber, Eckert, E. R. Chandler, executive manager of the Chamber, and H. J. English, executive manager of the Columbiana County Motor Club and in charge of its East Liverpool office. The motor club has been one of the major promoters of tourism in the district.

Chandler said the brochure will be given the widest possible distribution in quantity to agencies which can pass it on to persons and groups that might be interested in visiting the area.

The Chamber will provide supplies of the brochure to similar organizations throughout Ohio. The Columbiana County Motor Club will pass on copies to the 58 other auto clubs in the state. The brochure also will be distributed by the travel and tourist division of the Ohio Development Department at Columbus.

INDIVIDUAL COPIES of the brochure are available locally at banks and the motor club's office. A copy will be mailed to each Chamber member with the August bulletin.

English, who has watched the rising growth in tourism in the area for five years, feels that the brochure will aid greatly in promoting an "industry" with unlimited potential for the area. Because of his work with the auto club, he is in a position as unofficial host and greeter to virtually all of the touring groups and most of the individuals and families who stop off here to look over the area.

Tour groups frequently come here in bus loads, spending most of the day in seeing the sights outlined on the brochure. English said the quantity of "new money" that flows into the area in such visits is little known to most area residents.

"I recall a particular tour group of 120 persons who come here from mid-Ohio and spent five hours in the area," English said. "They spent $800 by actual count on meals, dinner ware and other items."

The tour season, generally speaking, runs from May until September. For the last four or five years, East Liverpool has been host to about a dozen of the touring groups each season. Of course the area also is visited by individuals and families on a day-long or a weekend tour.

English said one touring group, comprised of members of a fire department auxiliary near Pittsburgh, was so attracted to the area that it has made three visits.

"I HAVE BEEN a little hard pressed to find something new and outstanding for them to see on each visit," he said.

Based on comments of the visitors, the Ohio Valley scenery is one of the outstanding attractions, followed closely by the pottery plant tours and the opportunity to buy ware from wide selections at retail.

The touring groups always see the vista from the Pleasant Heights bluff, while a guide explains the scene—the West Virginia hills, the industrial plants, the historic associations dating back to George Washington and the fact that the Ohio River carries more freight in a year than the Panama Canal.

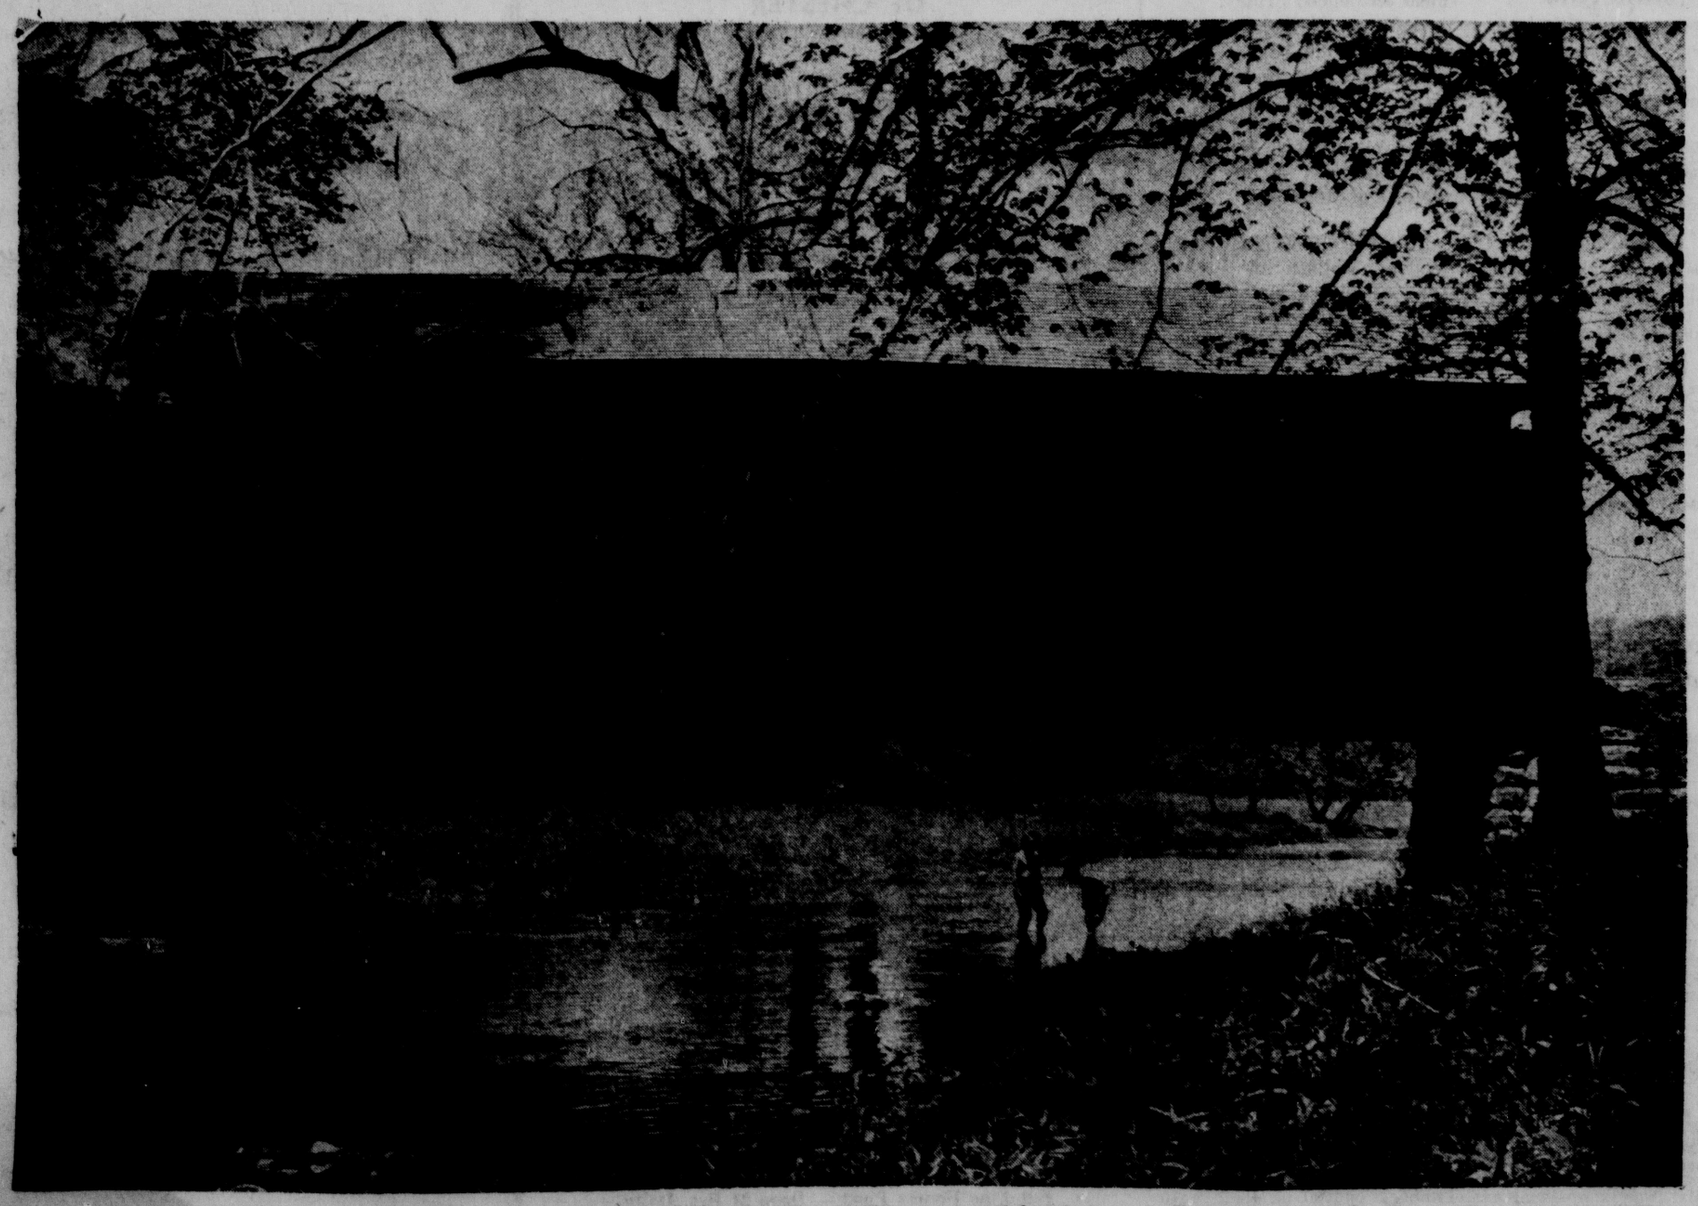
English said the comment heard from most visitors is: "I wouldn't have missed this for anything!"

He praised Harold Barth, area historian and curator of the Historical Society's Museum, for the "tremendous" assistance he has given in acting as guide and commentator for the touring groups.

Barth has an unparalleled grasp of the history of the area, so that he is able to deliver an informative, colorful commentary on any of the local scenes, English said.

Sometimes the task of providing tour guides proves a burden to the motor club's staff, English said, adding that he would be interested in obtaining assistance from an organization whose members have spare time and would be willing to assist with the task.

"I think we are moving in the right direction," English commented. "The potential is terrific."



An example of the quaint historical attractions of the district is this covered bridge near Gavers, one of six such structures in Columbiana County which annually draw many visitors.

Alaska Offers 'Cool' Vacation

By CLARA HALL

Witnessing an Eskimo blanket toss, riding in a dog sled and ski-lift, attending a little theater performance and crossing the Arctic Circle were a few of the experiences enjoyed by Miss Shirley Hartt of Perry Ave., on a recent trip to Alaska.

As a gal who enjoys cold weather much more than that of a hot climate, she decided to spend her vacation in an accomodating state.

Shirley's immediate impressions of The Land of the Midnight Sun (she had a tough time sleeping in the daylight) were striking. The majestic mountains and wide open spaces gave a feeling of complete freedom, and the "pioneer" type people were lively, friendly and extroverted to informality.

At Anchorage she stayed at the modern Westward Hotel. She visited the area of the 1964 earthquake, now practically all rebuilt. A damaged section was left to be turned into a touring attraction — "Earthquake Park." The earth is spongy and bouncy like foam rubber, Shirley said, and many cracks have never filled.

SHE EXPERIENCED a small tremor while in Fairbanks, which boasts of the hottest climate of the country. The week previous there had been a large tremor, and she was told they generally are followed by several small ones. She was in bed when awakened by the rocking and shifting, and the sensation was like being in a vibrating chair.

Alaska has one agricultural problem — the growing season is short and the winters cold. But Shirley visited the Matanuska Valley, an experimental farming tract, where, because of so much sunlight, the vegetables are mammoth, especially the cabbages and strawberries.

The Eskimo blanket toss looked like fun and seemed similar to a trampoline. The blanket resembled a fireman's life-net and was covered with either seal or walrus hide. The object of the contest is to see who jumps the highest, stemming from a hunting practice used in the winter to see where the herds of caribou or walrus are gathered.

Miss Hartt had a brief encounter with Secret Service men at the Golden Nugget Motel, a plush affair where she was staying on one of the trips. Vice President Hubert Humphrey was due to arrive for a political speech, and the manager of the motel was notified to clear the entire second floor (where she was occupying one of the rooms.)

Not particularly anxious to cater to the Democratic Party, he told the agents that he could not vacate the floor as he had too many guests and no where to put them.

So the Vice President was sent to a suite in another hotel. Later, one of the tourists told her Mr. Humphrey attended the performance of "Showboat" and slept through much of the theatrical offering.

ALASKA IS celebrating its "Centennial Year" and Miss Hartt became acquainted with some of the country's history as she visited the area set off for the observance. The guides commented on the former "Seward's Folly" or "Seward's Icebox" purchased for $7,200,000 from Russia during the administration of Abraham Lincoln. She ate in a restaurant designed like a typical showboat.

The main form of transportation is by plane, with many private and small craft in continual operation. On a one-day flight to Sitka, she visited with Dr. Mary Jane Brand, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Brand of Carolina Ave., Chester.

Mary Jane is a government employe in the Public Health Department of the Mt. Edgecumbe Hospital. Her dedicated work is a challenge, for so many of the Eskimo and Indian children arrive at the hospital by themselves and cannot explain the nature of their illnesses so the staff starts from scratch with the diagnosing.

Large families of 10 or 12 children are not unusual and the country has the lowest percentage of juvenile delinquency in the union.

On Shirley's trip to Nome, she received a certificate for crossing the Arctic Circle. Another card was presented to her from the Glacier Ice Sipper Club, certifying she is a member in good standing having "slipped, sipped and dipped the 20,000 year ice at the Gold Rush Bar of the Portage Glacier Lodge."

When doing the nightclub circuit, Shirley was surprised to find one place with a hillbilly combo. In many places, entertainers recite the poems of Robert W. Service, a native of England who is universally recognized as having truly captured the atmosphere and color of the exciting Alaska-Yukon Gold Rush era.

MISS HARTT experienced an exciting ride in an Eskimo "oomiak" shaped like a canoe and holding six people. These go out to the Bering Sea, just 50 miles from Russia. She also saw a "kayak" similar to a canoe and designed with a slot where the rider fits in tight and can't fall out.

It is impossible to sink this vessel which is used for whale hunting. Tourists are not permitted to ride these, for, without experience, they are quite dangerous.

Although there was no snow, Miss Hartt rode over the tundra — big fields of spongy grass on a dog sled.

When she visited in Juneau, the capitol, Shirley noted the climate was very mild. She saw a little theater performance of "Hootchinoo and Hotcakes" — which had a change of cast each night so as not to tie up the time of the volunteer performers.

SHE THOROUGHLY enjoyed some food dishes new to her — reindeer steak, Alaska king crab and sour dough pancakes.

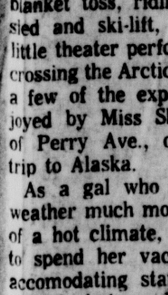
Naturally the situation of the country's economy would be noted by Miss Hartt a certified public accountant with the Hartt Audit Co. of W. 5th St. Extremely high wages were being paid with half of the people employed by the government.

There is a continual economic problem because fishing and fur trapping are seasonal. Much construction is in operation with many new business places being built. Some labor is used in the off-shore drilling units.

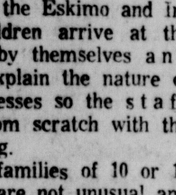
A poem of Robert Service summarizes Miss Hartt's memories of the 49th state:

It's the great, big, broad land way up yonder;
It's the forests where silence has lease;
It's the beauty that thrills me with wonder,
It's the stillness that fills me with peace.

Outdoor Notes



By HARRY STEWART
Review Staff Member



The announcement last week by the state that steps will be taken to better Guilford Lake has led to much speculation afout what will be done.

Several persons feel the best way to rejuvenate the lake would be to completely drain it and start all over again. My thinking has been along these lines, and the state proposed such measures some years ago, but the project was abandoned.

There is the possibility the state may reconsider draining the lake, save the good fish, and start anew.

Harry L. Podwell of Cornell Ave., Glenmoor, says in a letter he believes this would be the answer. He says he read an article in a national magazine this month about the draining of a lake in Indiana. The rough fish were removed, the lake was restocked and now is considered a "hot spot" for fishing.

Harry says several years ago it was a pleasure to fish in Guilford and that large strings of nice size bass could be caught. In his opinion the lake is now "dead."

SUCH MEASURES will be costly and would take time. There are also many other factors to be considered. Action will not come overnight.

The state will need the backing of all the sportsmen in the area. When the state announces plans to do something, hunters, fishermen and all outdoorsmen should take time to write a card or letter to the proper authorities. Let them know if you approve or disapprove. Offer your backing, your suggestions and moral support.

Believe me, letters sent by sportsmen are not taken lightly and are not thrown in "file 13."

IN ANSWER TO SEVERAL questions about the stocking of fish in Guilford Lake, Ed Bradley, Division III fish management supervisor, provided the following figures.

Since 1941, to date, the fish stocked in Guilford included: Walleye fry, 900,000; walleye adults, 7,681; largemouth bass fry, 110,000; largemouth fingerlings, 3,949; largemouth adults, 1,495; smallmouth bass fingerlings, 14,384; smallmouth adults, 377; muskellunge fry, 21,400; channel catfish fingerlings, 28,000; crappie adults, 10,777; bluegills, 5,322; bullheads, 288; suckers, 40; perch, 976; white bass, 5,364, and northern pike, 7,517.

CATFISH GALORE. Roy Hoops of Canton made the catch of the week at Piedmont Lake. He landed four flatheads weighing 26, 37½, 48 and 50 pounds, a blue cat weighing 11 pounds and a 15-pound channel cat.

He used a rod and reel with a 25-pound test line and suckers for bait. Roy was fishing at Six Mile Run at night. Several other large ones also were taken by other fishermen.

Bass were hitting along with muskies. Clendening Lake also has been giving up some nice catfish.

Roy Hoops of Canton landed these monstrous catfish at Piedmont Lake on a rod and reel. He caught six, but one was in the pot cooking when picture was taken.

Don Greene of LaCroft and Bill Greene of Glenmoor display several large bass caught on frogs in Canada.

ONE OF THE NICEST STRINGS of bass I've heard of this year from Canada were caught by Bill Greene of Glenmoor and his brother, Don Greene of LaCroft.

They were fishing the Trent River, Ontario, from the Lucky Strike Resort.

Bill says they brought home their limit of largemouths, which weighed 48 pounds after they were cleaned. "It was one of the best stringers of bass I have had the thrill of catching, or ever seen caught," he commented.

They also caught some walleyes and an undersized muskie.

Bill and Don fished the lilly pads. They were using live frogs for bait. With weedless hooks, the frogs were cast back into the weed beds and into the mouths of the lunkers. Once Bill made four casts and caught four fish.

That Canadian bass fishing brings back a lot of good memories.

GOOD NEWS FOR HUSBANDS. The next time your wife puts up a fuss when you decide to go fishing, tell her your doctor believes it is good for your health.

At least you won't be telling a very big whopper, because the American Medical Association has announced fishing is good therapy—both physical and emotional.

You probably won't see your doctor, unless he is sitting in the next boat, but fishing is fun, relaxing and a good exercise. And what doctor doesn't order this for all of us.

The AMA says that whether your fishing trip is elaborate or just a cane pole affair, it gets you out into the fresh air and sunshine and gets your mind off the cares of the day.

The AMA also warns against some of the hazards, such as catching a hook in the hand or leg. Most of these can be avoided with a little common sense.

Tommy was drafted and entered the U.S. Army. He left a good job, but knew he wasn't going to lose anything by being in the service. When he returned, he would be entitld to his job, plus any sniority, status and pay increases he would have received if he had not been called into the service.

There are, however, many complex situations where employers and employes must determine the rights for the returning serviceman.

FOR EXAMPLE, what happens to the business trainee who is called into service and later returns to his same position, then is advanced to a higher position? How are his benefits affected?

In one case, a carman helper on a railroad had been temporarily upgraded to work as a carman mechanic because of a labor shortage. If he worked 1,040 days in his new position, he would be considered a qualified carman. He then would be able to acquire a seniority date as a journeyman carman mechanic.

However, the armed services had other plans. After only 145 days of work as an upgraded helper, the man left for military service. After two years, he returned to his post as an upgraded helper, continued to work for the 1,040 days and acquired a seniority rating.

HOWEVER, his seniority on the railroad's seniority list was behind that of some men who had completed the 1,040-day requirement before he did because they hadn't been called to military service. Thus, the non-veteran would receive prior consideration in such matters as work preference, order of layoff and recall to work after layoff.

The U.S. Supreme Court upheld the veteran's contention that his military service had improperly affected his seniority. Where the evidence shows a veteran, but for his military service, probably would have been promoted when work requirements would have been completed, his seniority should run from the date he would have completed the work had he not been in military service.

While job advancement is not automatic, the law does protect, where possible, those persons called to the service of the United States.

BOLEY HAS been in Korea since January when he was sent overseas after training at Ft. Benning, Ga., and Camp Polk, La. A 1966 graduate of Southern Local High School, he was inducted into the Army in September 1966.

The young soldier has to serve 13 months in Korea, and will have six months more duty after that. He is not certain what he will do upon getting out of the service.

The heat of the climate in Korea is oppressive, he reports in letters home. "It went up to 103 today — I could fry an egg on the hood of my jeep. Hot, man, hot!"

Boley is right on the North Korea border "They play for real on this side of the river."

"There's no use in me telling you what it's like. We've got some brush and trees on the hillside, and no civilians are allowed."

HE WROTE of the recent incident in which U.S. troops suffered casualties along the border zone.

Boley and the others on the tion of the Asia confrontation with the Reds, and recognize the hard fact that although "their war" is not part of the daily news at home, it could easily erupt into the most serious crisis yet on that troubled continent.

There are so many handicapped persons confined to their homes. Because of sickness or advanced age, many have to stay in bed or wheelchairs.

Many of these "shut ins" are so depressed, feel so useless, often feel they have no reason to go on living.

There is something that those who feel cut off from the world can do. There is a great need in the world for this work, and I feel they are the only ones who can do it. If these people would make a list of the ones in their own neighborhood that they know need prayer, and faithfully pray for them and their problems every day, it would accomplish more than anything else these handicapped persons would have done through physical labors.

Divine help comes through prayer, but most of us are too impatient. We do not want to wait nor take the time to keep praying. We have more faith in our labor than in God.

So few have faith and the time to say "Now God I claim this person for You, for him and his problem. I know in Your own time and in Your own way You will take care of it because with God all things are possible."

I know God answers prayer, and I know it helps those who pray for others. Jobs troubles did not start to go away until he began to pray for others.

Alaska Offers 'Cool' Vacation

By CLARA HALL

Witnessing an Eskimo blanket toss, riding in a dog sled and ski-lift, attending a little theater performance and crossing the Arctic Circle were a few of the experiences enjoyed by Miss Shirley Hartt of Perry Ave., on a recent trip to Alaska.

As a gal who enjoys cold weather much more than that of a hot climate, she decided to spend her vacation in an accomodating state.

Shirley's immediate impressions of The Land of the Midnight Sun (she had a tough time sleeping in the daylight) were striking. The majestic mountains and wide open spaces gave a feeling of complete freedom, and the "pioneer" type people were lively, friendly and extroverted to informality.

At Anchorage she stayed at the modern Westward Hotel. She visited the area of the 1964 earthquake, now practically all rebuilt. A damaged section was left to be turned into a touring attraction — "Earthquake Park." The earth is spongy and bouncy like foam rubber, Shirley said, and many cracks have never filled.

SHE EXPERIENCED a small tremor while in Fairbanks, which boasts of the hottest climate of the country. The week previous there had been a large tremor, and she was told they generally are followed by several small ones. She was in bed when awakened by the rocking and shifting, and the sensation was like being in a vibrating chair.

Alaska has one agricultural problem — the growing season is short and the winters cold. But Shirley visited the Matanuska Valley, an experimental farming tract, where, because of so much sunlight, the vegetables are mammoth, especially the cabbages and strawberries.

The Eskimo blanket toss looked like fun and seemed similar to a trampoline. The blanket resembled a fireman's life-net and was covered with either seal or walrus hide. The object of the contest is to see who jumps the highest, stemming from a hunting practice used in the winter to see where the herds of caribou or walrus are gathered.

Miss Hartt had a brief encounter with Secret Service men at the Golden Nugget Motel, a plush affair where she was staying on one of the trips. Vice President Hubert Humphrey was due to arrive for a political speech, and the manager of the motel was notified to clear the entire second floor (where she was occupying one of the rooms.)

Not particularly anxious to cater to the Democratic Party, he told the agents that he could not vacate the floor as he had too many guests and no where to put them.

So the Vice President was sent to a suite in another hotel. Later, one of the tourists told her Mr. Humphrey attended the performance of "Showboat" and slept through much of the theatrical offering.

ALASKA IS celebrating its "Centennial Year" and Miss Hartt became acquainted with some of the country's history as she visited the area set off for the observance. The guides commented on the former "Seward's Folly" or "Seward's Icebox" purchased for $7,200,000 from Russia during the administration of Abraham Lincoln. She ate in a restaurant designed like a typical showboat.

The main form of transportation is by plane, with many private and small craft in continual operation. On a one-day flight to Sitka, she visited with Dr. Mary Jane Brand, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Brand of Carolina Ave., Chester.

Mary Jane is a government employe in the Public Health Department of the Mt. Edgecumbe Hospital. Her dedicated work is a challenge, for so many of the Eskimo and Indian children arrive at the hospital by themselves and cannot explain the nature of their illnesses so the staff starts from scratch with the diagnosing.

Large families of 10 or 12 children are not unusual and the country has the lowest percentage of juvenile delinquency in the union.

On Shirley's trip to Nome, she received a certificate for crossing the Arctic Circle. Another card was presented to her from the Glacier Ice Sipper Club, certifying she is a member in good standing having "slipped, sipped and dipped the 20,000 year ice at the Gold Rush Bar of the Portage Glacier Lodge."

When doing the nightclub circuit, Shirley was surprised to find one place with a hillbilly combo. In many places, entertainers recite the poems of Robert W. Service, a native of England who is universally recognized as having truly captured the atmosphere and color of the exciting Alaska-Yukon Gold Rush era.

MISS HARTT experienced an exciting ride in an Eskimo "oomiak" shaped like a canoe and holding six people. These go out to the Bering Sea, just 50 miles from Russia. She also saw a "kayak" similar to a canoe and designed with a slot where the rider fits in tight and can't fall out.

It is impossible to sink this vessel which is used for whale hunting. Tourists are not permitted to ride these, for, without experience, they are quite dangerous.

Although there was no snow, Miss Hartt rode over the tundra — big fields of spongy grass on a dog sled.

When she visited in Juneau, the capitol, Shirley noted the climate was very mild. She saw a little theater performance of "Hootchinoo and Hotcakes" — which had a change of cast each night so as not to tie up the time of the volunteer performers.

SHE THOROUGHLY enjoyed some food dishes new to her — reindeer steak, Alaska king crab and sour dough pancakes.

Naturally the situation of the country's economy would be noted by Miss Hartt a certified public accountant with the Hartt Audit Co. of W. 5th St. Extremely high wages were being paid with half of the people employed by the government.

There is a continual economic problem because fishing and fur trapping are seasonal. Much construction is in operation with many new business places being built. Some labor is used in the off-shore drilling units.

A poem of Robert Service summarizes Miss Hartt's memories of the 49th state:

It's the great, big, broad land way up yonder;
It's the forests where silence has lease;
It's the beauty that thrills me with wonder,
It's the stillness that fills me with peace.

The announcement last week by the state that steps will be taken to better Guilford Lake has led to much speculation afout what will be done.

Several persons feel the best way to rejuvenate the lake would be to completely drain it and start all over again. My thinking has been along these lines, and the state proposed such measures some years ago, but the project was abandoned.

There is the possibility the state may reconsider draining the lake, save the good fish, and start anew.

Harry L. Podwell of Cornell Ave., Glenmoor, says in a letter he believes this would be the answer. He says he read an article in a national magazine this month about the draining of a lake in Indiana. The rough fish were removed, the lake was restocked and now is considered a "hot spot" for fishing.

Harry says several years ago it was a pleasure to fish in Guilford and that large strings of nice size bass could be caught. In his opinion the lake is now "dead."

SUCH MEASURES will be costly and would take time. There are also many other factors to be considered. Action will not come overnight.

The state will need the backing of all the sportsmen in the area. When the state announces plans to do something, hunters, fishermen and all outdoorsmen should take time to write a card or letter to the proper authorities. Let them know if you approve or disapprove. Offer your backing, your suggestions and moral support.

Believe me, letters sent by sportsmen are not taken lightly and are not thrown in "file 13."

IN ANSWER TO SEVERAL questions about the stocking of fish in Guilford Lake, Ed Bradley, Division III fish management supervisor, provided the following figures.

Since 1941, to date, the fish stocked in Guilford included: Walleye fry, 900,000; walleye adults, 7,681; largemouth bass fry, 110,000; largemouth fingerlings, 3,949; largemouth adults, 1,495; smallmouth bass fingerlings, 74,384; smallmouth adults, 377; muskellunge fry, 21,400; channel catfish fingerlings, 28,000; crappie adults, 10,777; bluegills, 5,322; bullheads, 288; suckers, 40; perch, 976; white bass, 5,364, and northern pike, 7,517.

CATFISH GALORE. Roy Hoops of Canton made the catch of the week at Piedmont Lake. He landed four shovelheads weighing 26, 37½, 48 and 50 pounds, a blue cat weighing 11 pounds and a 15-pound channel cat.

He used a rod and reel with a 25-pound test line and suckers for bait. Roy was fishing at Six Mile Run at night. Several other large ones also were taken by other fishermen.

Bass were hitting along with muskies. Clendening Lake also has been giving up some nice catfish.

Roy Hoops of Canton landed these monstrous catfish at Piedmont Lake on a rod and reel. He caught six, but one was in the pot cooking when the picture was taken.

Don Greene of LaCroft and Bill Greene of Glenmoor display several large bass caught on frogs in Canada.

ONE OF THE NICEST STRINGS of bass I've heard of this year from Canada were caught by Bill Greene of Glenmoor and his brother, Don Greene of LaCroft.

They were fishing the Trent River, Ontario, from the Lucky Strike Resort.

Bill says they brought home their limit of largemouths, which weighed 48 pounds after they were cleaned. "It was one of the best stringers of bass I have had the thrill of catching, or ever seen caught," he commented.

They also caught some walleyes and an undersized muskie.

Bill and Don fished the lilly pads. They were using live frogs for bait. With weedless hooks, the frogs were cast back into the weed beds and into the mouths of the lunkers. Once Bill made four casts and caught four fish.

That Canadian bass fishing brings back a lot of good memories.

GOOD NEWS FOR HUSBANDS. The next time your wife puts up a fuss when you decide to go fishing, tell her your doctor believes it is good for your health.

At least you won't be telling a very big whopper, because the American Medical Association has announced fishing is good therapy—both physical and emotional.

You probably won't see your doctor, unless he is sitting in the next boat, but fishing is fun, relaxing and a good exercise. And what doctor doesn't order this for all of us.

The AMA says that whether your fishing trip is elaborate or just a cane pole affair, it gets you out into the fresh air and sunshine and gets your mind off the cares of the day.

The AMA also warns against some of the hazards, such as catching a hook in the hand or leg. Most of these can be avoided with a little common sense.

Blows Dealt Two Projects Of McNamara

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee has dealt new blows to two of Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's prime projects—the controversial F111D jet planes and massive ships intended to serve as floating military warehouses.

The actions came Friday as the Senate panel sent to the floor a massive $70.16 billion defense money bill, including $20 billion for Vietnam war costs. The total was slightly less than the $70.23 billion defense measure approved by Congress for the past fiscal year, which ended June 30.

Committee members conceded privately the $20 billion Vietnam total will fall short of meeting actual costs, especially after President Johnson's announcement Thursday he is dispatching 45,000 to 50,000 more troops to the Southeast Asia conflict.

The better than $70 billion okayed by the committee was $1.4 billion below Johnson's budget requests and $139 million less than the House approved June 13.

The Senate committee accepted House action in denying $300 million that McNamara requested for construction of a fleet of fast deployment logistic ships.

The defense chief has said the floating arsenals would allow the United States to move quickly to avert crises. But some Senate critics have said use of such ships could result in U.S. involvement in future conflicts such as Vietnam.

The Senate panel also reduced from $287 million to $115 million funds to build the F111D jets—the Navy version of the long controversial TFX. The House version cut funds for the swing-wing interceptor to $208 million.

The plane has been designated by McNamara for use by all services. Designers have encountered weight problems in attempting to fit the plane to aircraft carrier use.

Three Uninjured In Mishaps Here

No one was injured in three traffic mishaps here Friday night and early this morning.

Shortly after midnight this morning, a vehicle driven by Gary L. Casto, 20, of Irondale RD 1, struck a guardrail on the Route 7 freeway ramp, demolishing his car.

One end of the guard fence was bent around a support post. Casto was uninjured. The driver reported he lost control and the car skidded into the rail.

Investigating Officer L. E. Richard did not cite Casto.

At 5 p.m. yesterday, two cars driven by Betty Jane Houchan, 39, of Dixonville, and Donald L. Pyles, 17, of Dewey Ave. Ext. collided on Pennsylvania Ave. near Boyce St.

Officers said Mrs. Houchan was stopped to make a left turn when a third vehicle, a tractor-trailer rig operated by Richard Brewer of 1074 Peake St., stopped to allow the car to turn. Pyles, thinking the rig had stopped for a traffic light, pulled to the right around the truck and collided with Mrs. Houchan's car.

He was arrested for passing on the right.

At 6:15 p.m., yesterday, a parked motorcycle was struck by an unidentified driver. The cycle is owned by Arthur Peters of Jackson Heights, N. Y. Peters reported he looked out a window onto Pennsylvania Ave. and saw a car strike the cycle, causing minor damage. The driver was later identified as William Jarrett of 1162 Erie St.

Officers said he agreed to pay for damages. Peters told authorities he did not wish to file charges.

'Backing-Up' Results In Mishap At Chester

Chester Police Chief Audley Campbell reports a minor accident late Friday morning.

He said the mishap occurred at Columbia Dr. near the Chester bridge about 11:30 a.m.

Mrs. Alvin L. Arner, 28, of Columbia Dr. backed from a driveway at her home into the path of a car driven by Roy Manypenny, 39, of St. Clair Ave., East Liverpool, who was backing in the street.

No one was injured. Campbell issued no citations.

Police Learn Identity Of Stolen Auto Owner

A 1967 convertible found afire early Friday morning along Beaver Creek Rd. off Route 68 near Smiths Ferry has been identified as belonging to Michael Maier of Sewickley.

He told Ohioville police it was stolen sometime before midnight Thursday from the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. parking lot at Aliquippa where he was at work.

Ohio Measure Stalled

Bidding Bill's Fate Cloudy

By William V. Merriman
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Prime fact of political life:

When the music stops, most of the bills now jamming the threadshold to enactment in the Ohio General Assembly will be bridesmaids.

One measure half way down the aisle, its progress followed by many eyes, is a bill to require counties for the first time to use competitive bidding procedures in their purchases.

Fate Undecided

Its fate, three or four weeks before the legislature takes a few months' rest, is obscure.

Hoping for a happy ending — passage by the Senate — are the bill's 12 cosponsors, including its author, Rep. Robert E. Levitt, R-Stark.

Their sentiments are shared by the Ohio Contractors Association, Ohio Manufacturers Association, Ohio Newspaper Association, Ohio Automobile Dealers Association, Ohio Building Trades Council and the Construction Industry Joint Conference.

There are others who wouldn't mind seeing the bill trip — preferably in the Senate Urban-Highway Affairs Committee to which it was assigned two weeks ago after passing the House, 63-21.

They Won't Be Idle

In fact, some observers are convinced the County Engineers Association of Ohio and the Ohio County Commissioners Association won't stand idle, merely crossing their figures for the bill's demise.

The County Commissioners Association is not on record in opposition to the proposal. But, as Dolph Massler, the association's executive secretary, conceded, "There still are many commissioners against the bill in any form — no organization can have 100 per cent agreement."

The County Engineers Association remains adamant. Its president, Kent W. Rollins, Hamilton County's engineer, informed Levitt last month by letter: "Contrary to rumor, our association was and still is opposed to this bill."

Amendment Wins

Of course, that was before an amendment made on the House floor lifted limits on bridge and highway force account work — without bidding — from $6,000 to $10,000, and $10,000 per mile.

Force account now permits county engineers to use their own men to perform construction and maintenance work rather than take bids from private firms.

Opponents argue this practice leads to abuses when the engineer turns around and contracts for the work with a private firm — thus bypassing bidding completely.

The engineers maintain force account is legal and cuts construction costs.

The courts haven't made up their minds yet.

Engineers To Soften?

The possibility the County Engineers Association might soften its stand against Levitt's bill was intimated last week by Rollins. The association's board of directors will meet here Thursday to take another look at the proposal, he said.

Certain revisions in the bill, he said, might be decided upon at the meeting and presented to the Senate Urban-Highway Affairs Committee.

Just when the bill will be heard apparently is uncertain.

The committee's chairman, Sen. Robert E. Stockdale, R-Portage, said he isn't sure.

Levitt said he's been told it will be Wednesday.

Rollins said he hopes it won't be heard until after his directors meet — which would push the hearing into next week.

What It Provides

As passed by the House, the bill provides:

PURCHASES under $1,000 need not be advertised for bids.

PURCHASES between $1,000 and $4,0000 must be advertised by notices posted in county courthouses.

PURCHASES over $4,000 must be advertised in newspapers of general circulation in the county.

A $1,000 limit on non-advertised purchases, the same level called for in a bill which failed by two votes to pass the House two years ago, was still in Levitt's original bill introduced in March.

A raise in the present limits came after he huddled with the commissioners and engineers associations.

Others Get Bids

The bills's supporters wonder why counties should be exempt from competitive bidding requirements when all other governmental agencies — state, school districts, townships, cities and villages — are not.

Its detractors — some county officials — insist they now follow informal bidding, and save money in the process.

The House Judiciary Committee heard both arguments. And Stockdale's committee undoubtedly will see a rerun.

But when?

Blows Dealt Two Projects Of McNamara

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee has dealt new blows to two of Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's prime projects—the controversial F111D jet planes and massive ships intended to serve as floating military warehouses.

The actions came Friday as the Senate panel sent to the floor a massive $70.16 billion defense money bill, including $20 billion for Vietnam war costs. The total was slightly less than the $70.23 billion defense measure approved by Congress for the past fiscal year, which ended June 30.

Committee members conceded privately the $20 billion Vietnam total will fall short of meeting actual costs, especially after President Johnson's announcement Thursday he is dispatching 45,000 to 50,000 more troops to the Southeast Asia conflict.

The better than $70 billion okayed by the committee was $1.4 billion below Johnson's budget requests and $139 million less than the House approved June 13.

The Senate committee accepted House action in denying $300 million that McNamara requested for construction of a fleet of fast deployment logistic ships.

The defense chief has said the floating arsenals would allow the United States to move quickly to avert crises. But some Senate critics have said use of such ships could result in U.S. involvement in future conflicts such as Vietnam.

The Senate panel also reduced from $287 million to $115 million funds to build the F111D jets—the Navy version of the long controversial TFX. The House version cut funds for the swing-wing interceptor to $208 million.

The plane has been designated by McNamara for use by all services. Designers have encountered weight problems in attempting to fit the plane to aircraft carrier use.

Three Uninjured In Mishaps Here

No one was injured in three traffic mishaps here Friday night and early this morning.

Shortly after midnight this morning, a vehicle driven by Gary L. Casto, 20, of Irondale RD 1, struck a guardrail on the Route 7 freeway ramp, demolishing his car.

One end of the guard fence was bent around a support post. Casto was uninjured. The driver reported he lost control and the car skidded into the rail.

Investigating Officer L. E. Richard did not cite Casto.

At 5 p.m. yesterday, two cars driven by Betty Jane Houchan, 39, of Dixonville, and Donald L. Pyles, 17, of Dewey Ave. Ext. collided on Pennsylvania Ave. near Boyce St.

Officers said Mrs. Houchan was stopped to make a left turn when a third vehicle, a tractor-trailer rig operated by Richard Brewer of 1074 Peake St., stopped to allow the car to turn. Pyles, thinking the rig had stopped for a traffic light, pulled to the right around the truck and collided with Mrs. Houchan's car.

He was arrested for passing on the right.

At 6:15 p.m., yesterday, a parked motorcycle was struck by an unidentified driver. The cycle is owned by Arthur Peters of Jackson Heights, N. Y. Peters reported he looked out a window onto Pennsylvania Ave. and saw a car strike the cycle, causing minor damage. The driver was later identified as William Jarrett of 1162 Erie St.

Officers said he agreed to pay for damages. Peters told authorities he did not wish to file charges.

'Backing-Up' Results In Mishap At Chester

Chester Police Chief Audley Campbell reports a minor accident late Friday morning.

He said the mishap occurred at Columbia Dr. near the Chester bridge about 11:30 a.m.

Mrs. Alvin L. Arner, 28, of Columbia Dr. backed from a driveway at her home into the path of a car driven by Roy Manypenny, 39, of St. Clair Ave., East Liverpool, who was backing in the street.

No one was injured. Campbell issued no citations.

Police Learn Identity Of Stolen Auto Owner

A 1967 convertible found afire early Friday morning along Beaver Creek Rd. off Route 68 near Smiths Ferry has been identified as belonging to Michael Maier of Sewickley.

He told Ohioville police it was stolen sometime before midnight Thursday from the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. parking lot at Aliquippa where he was at work.

Ohio Measure Stalled

Bidding Bill's Fate Cloudy

By William V. Merriman
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Prime fact of political life:

When the music stops, most of the bills now jamming the threadshold to enactment in the Ohio General Assembly will be bridesmaids.

One measure half way down the aisle, its progress followed by many eyes, is a bill to require counties for the first time to use competitive bidding procedures in their purchases.

Fate Undecided

Its fate, three or four weeks before the legislature takes a few months' rest, is obscure.

Hoping for a happy ending — passage by the Senate — are the bill's 12 cosponsors, including its author, Rep. Robert E. Levitt, R-Stark.

Their sentiments are shared by the Ohio Contractors Association, Ohio Manufacturers Association, Ohio Newspaper Association, Ohio Automobile Dealers Association, Ohio Building Trades Council and the Construction Industry Joint Conference.

There are others who wouldn't mind seeing the bill trip — preferably in the Senate Urban-Highway Affairs Committee to which it was assigned two weeks ago after passing the House, 63-21.

They Won't Be Idle

In fact, some observers are convinced the County Engineers Association of Ohio and the Ohio County Commissioners Association won't stand idle, merely crossing their figures for the bill's demise.

The County Commissioners Association is not on record in opposition to the proposal. But, as Dolph Massler, the association's executive secretary, conceded, "There still are many commissioners against the bill in any form — no organization can have 100 per cent agreement."

The County Engineers Association remains adamant. Its president, Kent W. Rollins, Hamilton County's engineer, informed Levitt last month by letter: "Contrary to rumor, our association was and still is opposed to this bill."

Amendment Wins

Of course, that was before an amendment made on the House floor lifted limits on bridge and highway force account work — without bidding — from $6,000 to $10,000, and $10,000 per mile.

Force account now permits county engineers to use their own men to perform construction and maintenance work rather than take bids from private firms.

Opponents argue this practice leads to abuses when the engineer turns around and contracts for the work with a private firm — thus bypassing bidding completely.

The engineers maintain force account is legal and cuts construction costs.

The courts haven't made up their minds yet.

Engineers To Soften?

The possibility the County Engineers Association might soften its stand against Levitt's bill was intimated last week by Rollins. The association's board of directors will meet here Thursday to take another look at the proposal, he said.

Certain revisions in the bill, he said, might be decided upon at the meeting and presented to the Senate Urban-Highway Affairs Committee.

Just when the bill will be heard apparently is uncertain.

The committee's chairman, Sen. Robert E. Stockdale, R-Portage, said he isn't sure.

Levitt said he's been told it will be Wednesday.

Rollins said he hopes it won't be heard until after his directors meet — which would push the hearing into next week.

What It Provides

As passed by the House, the bill provides:

PURCHASES under $1,000 need not be advertised for bids.

PURCHASES between $1,000 and $4,0000 must be advertised by notices posted in county courthouses.

PURCHASES over $4,000 must be advertised in newspapers of general circulation in the county.

A $1,000 limit on non-advertised purchases, the same level called for in a bill which failed by two votes to pass the House two years ago, was still in Levitt's original bill introduced in March.

A raise in the present limits came after he huddled with the commissioners and engineers associations.

Others Get Bids

The bills's supporters wonder why counties should be exempt from competitive bidding requirements when all other governmental agencies — state, school districts, townships, cities and villages — are not.

Its detractors — some county officials — insist they now follow informal bidding, and save money in the process.

The House Judiciary Committee heard both arguments. And Stockdale's committee undoubtedly will see a rerun.

But when?

Patrol Streets In Peace Mission

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP) —When the sun goes down and the lights come on in this suburban community just north of New York City, 50 Negroes 15 to 25 years old fan out through the streets on a mission of peace.

They are "police partners," paid $2.25 an hour to patrol the business districts and low income neighborhoods, talking to youngsters and stopping trouble before it starts.

"We go over there and disperse the crowd, without calling the police," says one partner, Jerry Calnek, 19. "When the police come, there's trouble."

"The cops," says Roy Tucker, also 19, "kind of take a negative attitude toward some of the kids. They come from home. They had a few arguments with their wife. They take it out on the kids."

The police partners come from the same kind of neighborhoods that they patrol in this community of 83,000—including 13,000 Negroes—and they say they "know how kids feel."

"They're like average kids today. They don't want to take orders from nobody," says Mark Briley, 20.

Briley says, "We're not here to be tough guys. If you talk to people rough, they're going to want to hurt you."

Instead, he says, "If I would see a group of youths fighting I'd say, 'Look here fellows it doesn't make any sense to be here fighting. You're just going to be arrested.' "

"They don't want to listen at first," says Tucker. "They call you a 'Tom' and other nicknames. But after you talk to them, it's okay."

The police partners went into operation July 27, and that night they helped put down a disturbance when a group of youngsters poured out of a Community Action program dance, breaking windows and setting trash baskets afire.

Each police partner wears a red armband and is sworn in by the police. They patrol in pairs. The program is financed by the city and state.

Plane Crushes Home, Three Aboard Killed

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—"I saw red, white and blue markings on the plane, and I knew what was happening.

"It was coming right at me," said Kenneth J. Granbois Friday, after a small twin-engine plane smashed into his home during a violent thunderstorm, killing all three aboard.

Granbois and his wife, Margaret, both 62, were not injured.

The plane, en route from Danbury, Conn., to North Carolina, apparently was struck by lightning, and just missed hitting St. Joseph's hospital, police said.

Danbury, Conn. police said the plane was piloted by Mrs. Jane Nisbitt of Waxhaw, N.C., and carried Lewis Ahlborn and his wife, Barbara.

SUMMER AND YOUR SEPTIC TANK

Surprising though it may seem, summer with its sunshine and showers, is just about the most critical time of the year for owners of septic tanks.

To correctly understand the aforementioned statement it is first necessary to analyze the workings of septic tanks, and the effect of seasonal changes.

Your septic tank is a chamber wherein exists a complex of micro - organisms, each type equipped to handle and dispose of different types of waste material. Working as a team, these infinitesimal forms of life break down and liquefy the solids, leaving only a liquid which is free to run out for final disposal in your drainfield or drywell. Regularly activated, these living "garbage disposals" will normally keep up with the flow of waste, and your system will function properly. However, surveys show that during the summer season, more systems "back-up" and overflow than at any other time of year, creating expensive and highly unsanitary conditions.

WHY ? ? ?

The answer to that question is simply "temperature". Bacterial life dislikes temperature changes, and, since your septic tank has no heating system to keep things cozy so that they can go about their work in comfort, they die off in the millions and billions when winter arrives, leaving only a "Skeleton crew" of weakened bacteria to handle the heavy loads. Consequently, as winter months pass slowly by, a build-up of undigested grease and solids occurs, clogging the tank and passing through to the disposal fields. Grease congeals and deposits in the pores of the soil, almost to the point of being beyond repair. Melting ice, snow, and showers add to the problem by increasing the amount of water entering the system.

How Sea-Cal Enzymes Help

The powerful digestive powers of the enzymes contained in SEA-CAL rapidly liquefy the hard grease packs in the septic tanks and drainfields, changing such grease and other solids into available food for the bacteria. SEA-CAL also contains 80,000,000 anerobic bacteria per gram (28 grams in each ounce) and with each bacteria reproducing itself many times a day, the micro-organism population is rapidly built up to the adequate numbers, with the ultimate return of full operating efficiency.

Red Chinese Drive Off Assault Upon Embassy

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Communist Chinese inside a well barricaded embassy drove back a mob of 300 Indonesian youths with small arms fire today as the youths smashed into the embassy compound and set fires. Three youths were seriously wounded.

One of 100 Indonesian soldiers who arrived to control the outbreak also was wounded seriously by the volley from the embassy.

After the initial outburst, the Chinese, believed to number about 20, kept their positions inside the building, and an uneasy lull came. Two buildings in the compound had been set afire by the student mob, and the remains of one smoked and crackled.

Helmeted Indonesian troops took up positions behind trees and trained their automatic rifles on thee building. Tanks lumbered up.

The youths, believed to be the same group that attacked the Chinese embassy twice before over the past 16 months, used axes and crowbars to rip down the huge outer gate. Others scaled the 10-foot concrete wall topped with broken glass and barbed wire.

The youths, members of a small nationalistic political party, immediately set fire to a small house near the gate, apparently an office. As they got a blaze going at a second building, Indonesian troops began arriving.

The youths, with soldiers milling around them, then surged against the main building, smashing windows and damaging doors. But the Chinese apparently had been expecting such an attack, military officers said, for they had fortified the doors too strongly for the youths to break in.

Then shots blazed through the broken and barred window frames. Felling the three students and one soldier. The wounded were dragged to safety.

The Indonesian government warned the Chinese it would tear down the embassy walls if they were not lowered from 10 feet to 5 feet.

The embassy was stoned in April last year and again this April by youths. The Red Chinese are widely accused of having been involved in the abortive Communist coup attempt of 1965.

The reaction to the coup attempt led to the overthrow of the Communist party and President Sukarno's government, and the massacre of hundreds of thousands of Communists and their sympathizers.

Two months ago Indonesia expelled the Chinese charge d'affaires, Yao Teng-shan, and Consul General 'hu Yen. They were accused of subversive activites.

China has issued periodic protests against the anti-Chinese demonstrations, and counter demonstrations have been held in front of the Indonesian Embassy in Peking.

Earlier this week hundreds of Indonesian students, armed with rocks, iron rods and paint, attacked Chinese shops and homes in the village of Krawang on Jakarta's outskirts.

They sought vengeance for the killing of an Indonesian servant. Her employer, Tjui San Noei, a Chinese merchant, was arrested. and troops promised the students that the slayer would be punished.

Bar Panel Will Review Suggested News Curbs

By BARRY SCHWEID

HONOLULU (AP)—The chief proponent of limiting crime news reporting said today his American Bar Association panel will review its recommendations in the light of objections raised by news media representatives.

Justice Paul C. Reardon of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts said in an interview that the review will be carried out before the recommendations are presented in February to the ABA's policy-making arm, the House of Delegates.

Still, it seemed clear after a day-long hearing Friday that the Reardon panel will not retreat on its major proposals.

And J. Edward Murray, chairman of the American Society of Newspaper Editors' Freedom of Information and Press-Bar Committee, said he is pinning his hopes for liberalization of the recommendations on the House of Delegates. It is that group , he said in an interview, that is likely to give a "more liberal construction to the very serious sanctions recommended by the Reardon report."

Murray, managing editor of the Arizona Republic, said the recommendations are "of grave concern for all of society."

The Reardon report calls on lawyers and police officials to restrict their comments on pending criminal cases and to cut back on the release of information about them.

It also recommends contempt of court action against anyone who "disseminates by any means of public communications" a prejudicial statement about a defendant in a willful attempt to affect the outcome of his trial.

The same sanction is recommended when the pretrial hearing has been closed by the judge.

Patrol Streets In Peace Mission

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP) —When the sun goes down and the lights come on in this suburban community just north of New York City, 50 Negroes 15 to 25 years old fan out through the streets on a mission of peace.

They are "police partners," paid $2.25 an hour to patrol the business districts and low income neighborhoods, talking to youngsters and stopping trouble before it starts.

"We go over there and disperse the crowd, without calling the police," says one partner, Jerry Calnek, 19. "When the police come, there's trouble."

"The cops," says Roy Tucker, also 19, "kind of take a negative attitude toward some of the kids. They come from home. They had a few arguments with their wife. They take it out on the kids."

The police partners come from the same kind of neighborhoods that they patrol in this community of 83,000—including 13,000 Negroes—and they say they "know how kids feel."

"They're like average kids today. They don't want to take orders from nobody," says Mark Briley, 20.

Briley says, "We're not here to be tough guys. If you talk to people rough, they're going to want to hurt you."

Instead, he says, "If I would see a group of youths fighting I'd say, 'Look here fellows it doesn't make any sense to be here fighting. You're just going to be arrested.' "

"They don't want to listen at first," says Tucker. "They call you a 'Tom' and other nicknames. But after you talk to them, it's okay."

The police partners went into operation July 27, and that night they helped put down a disturbance when a group of youngsters poured out of a Community Action program dance, breaking windows and setting trash baskets afire.

Each police partner wears a red armband and is sworn in by the police. They patrol in pairs. The program is financed by the city and state.

Plane Crushes Home, Three Aboard Killed

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—"I saw red, white and blue markings on the plane, and I knew what was happening.

"It was coming right at me," said Kenneth J. Granbois Friday, after a small twin-engine plane smashed into his home during a violent thunderstorm, killing all three aboard.

Granbois and his wife, Margaret, both 62, were not injured.

The plane, en route from Danbury, Conn., to North Carolina, apparently was struck by lightning, and just missed hitting St. Joseph's hospital, police said.

Danbury, Conn. police said the plane was piloted by Mrs. Jane Nisbitt of Waxhaw, N.C., and carried Lewis Ahlborn and his wife, Barbara.

SUMMER AND YOUR SEPTIC TANK

Surprising though it may seem, summer with its sunshine and showers, is just about the most critical time of the year for owners of septic tanks.

To correctly understand the aforementioned statement it is first necessary to analyze the workings of septic tanks, and the effect of seasonal changes.

Your septic tank is a chamber wherein exists a complex of micro - organisms, each type equipped to handle and dispose of different types of waste material. Working as a team, these infinitesimal forms of life break down and liquefy the solids, leaving only a liquid which is free to run out for final disposal in your drainfield or drywell. Regularly activated, these living "garbage disposals" will normally keep up with the flow of waste, and your system will function properly. However, surveys show that during the summer season, more systems "back-up" and overflow than at any other time of year, creating expensive and highly unsanitary conditions.

WHY ? ? ?

The answer to that question is simply "temperature". Bacterial life dislikes temperature changes, and, since your septic tank has no heating system to keep things cozy so that they can go about their work in comfort, they die off in the millions and billions when winter arrives, leaving only a "Skeleton crew" of weakened bacteria to handle the heavy loads. Consequently, as winter months pass slowly by, a build-up of undigested grease and solids occurs, clogging the tank and passing through to the disposal fields. Grease congeals and deposits in the pores of the soil, almost to the point of being beyond repair. Melting ice, snow, and showers add to the problem by increasing the amount of water entering the system.

How Sea-Cal Enzymes Help

The powerful digestive powers of the enzymes contained in SEA-CAL rapidly liquefy the hard grease packs in the septic tanks and drainfields, changing such grease and other solids into available food for the bacteria. SEA-CAL also contains 80,000,000 anerobic bacteria per gram (28 grams in each ounce) and with each bacteria reproducing itself many times a day, the micro-organism population is rapidly built up to the adequate numbers, with the ultimate return of full operating efficiency.

Packers Cool Off Fired-Up All-Stars With 27-0 Decision

Starr Paces Attack With 15 Complete

By F. RICHARD CICCONE

CHICAGO (AP) — Bart Starr had only a half interest in the 34th college All-Star game Friday night but that's all it took for the Green Bay passing master to cool off a fired-up All-Star defense and pace the professional champions to a 27-0 triumph.

Starr, facing a strong collegiate rush, put the Packer running game in cold storage in the first half but chilled the All-Stars with 15 completions for 212 yards and two touchdowns before retiring to the sidelines at the halftime.

The lanky Alabaman, who directed the Packers to a Super Bowl victory last season used six different receivers to flood the collegiate defense, then ignored the long strike and picked apart the shallow secondary.

The Green Bay quarterback was surprised early in the game when Bubba Smith, Michigan State's mammoth end, broke through and pinned him for a 10-yard loss.

Starr dusted himself off and completed three straight passes to the All-Star 13-yard line, where Don Chandler kicked a field goal.

Three plays later, Steve Spurrier, the Heisman Trophy winning quarterback from Florida who started the game for the collegians, fumbled and when the rugged star defense stopped the Green Bay running game, Chandler kicked his second field goal.

In the second quarter, Starr began testing the collegiate secondary and he found it wanting. The Packers drove 61 yards in eight plays with Starr hitting Boyd Dowler with an 11-yard touchdown strike.

The All-Star offense, loaded with highly regarded running backs, was held in check by the impregnable Packer forward wall.

Coach John Sauer shuttled Spurrier and Bob Griese of Purdue in and out of the line-up, but neither could find the passing magic to loosen the Green Bay defense.

Midway in the second quarter, Starr hung out three completions bringing the Packers to the All-Star 21, then found Bob Long all alone in the right corner of the end zone for a touchdown.

Zeke Bratkowski relieved Starr for the second half, and though he completed eight of 11 passes the All-Stars were able to contain the Packers in the third quarter. But again the Packer defense yielded little to the collegiate attempts.

Jim Grabowski, last year's prize rookie from Illinois who was on duty with the National Guard in Milwaukee, Wis., joined Green Bay shortly before the game and stamped himself as an appropriate heir to the fullback position where Jim Taylor once reigned.

Grabowski sparked the Packers in the second half, gaining 53 yards in seven carries, including a 22-yard touchdown sprint through the middle of the All-Star defense in the final period. He was the game's leading rusher with 77 yards in nine carries.

After the score, Griese led the Stars on their only sustained march of the evening. He completed four passes to carry them from their 19 to the Green Bay 18, then threw to Dave Williams of Washington who was alone in the middle of the end zone. But Williams had to leap for the ball and came down past the end line nullifying the score.

The Stars were good where they were expected to be—stopping Green Bay's running—and weak where their supporters hoped they wouldn't be—coping with the brilliant Starr.

The Packer victory coupled with a 38-0 triumph last year, made it eight straight scoreless quarters for the All-Stars who suffered their 23rd loss in the series.

The Stars have won nine, the last time in 1963 against Green Bay, and two games were tied.

A crowd of 70,934 watched the contest at Soldier Field.

EL Colt Stars Bow Out Of Regional Tourney

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

With the East Liverpool Colt League All-Stars ushered to the sidelines early, Ashtabula and Marietta stood as the only unbeaten teams in the Regional Colt Tournament at the local Colt Field.

East Liverpool bowed out of the double elimination event suffering its second loss when Warren scored a 4-2 victory Friday afternoon. East Liverpool had dropped a tough 1-0 decision to Mon-Yough in nine innings on Thursday.

—:—

IN THE second game Friday, Marietta, making its first appearance, handed Mon - Yough, (Pa.) a 3-1 setback.

In today's pairings, Warren was to play Mon-Yough in the morning game while the two unbeaten teams — Ashtabula and Marietta — were scheduled at 2 p. m. In the 5:30 p.m. game today, the winner of the 10 o'clock game will meet the loser of the 2 o'clock contest. The tournament will wind up Sunday with a game at 2 p. m. and one at 5:30 if necessary.

—:—

EAST Liverpool went down swinging Friday. After Warren had held a 2-0 lead for five innings, the local nine rallied to tie the game with two runs in the last of the sixth.

Warren quickly went in front again with a pair of runs in the seventh to win its first tournament game. Warren is the defending champions but lost its first game Thursday to Ashtabula County.

—:—

JERRY HOWELL was touched for two runs and three hits in the first inning but then settled down and didn't give up a hit for the next five innings before he was relieved for a pinch-hitter in the sixth.

Danny Cunningham's triple woke up the East Liverpool attack in the sixth inning. Cunningham's blast to centerfield scored Tom Chambers who had singled.

Cunningham scored later on an error by the shortstop to tie the contest.

IN WARREN'S seventh inning, a double by Davies was the key blow as he drove home Jenkins from first base. Jenkins, a pinchhitter had singled. Davies later scored on a single by Lee. The runs came off lefthander Steve Murray who had relieved Howell. Murray was checked with the loss.

Davies went all the way for Warren giving up six hits. Howell only allowed three hits during his six inning stint and fanned three batters but gave up five walks.

—:—

CHAMBERS, the leading hitter for East Liverpool in the tournament had two safeties and in three trips giving him four hits in two games while Cunningham also collected two hits.

Lee was the only Warren batter to hit safely twice.

Marietta crowded all of its scoring into the second inning to defeat Mon-Yough.

The three-runs was all McCutcheon needed as he gave up a single run in the third inning then blanked Mon-Yough the rest of the way.

—:—

MARIETTA collected seven hits off Parsons who fanned seven batters. McCutcheon in gaining the mound victory scattered six hits and struck out six.

Mariett's second baseman Arnold, who turned in several fine fielding plays also drove in two of his team's runs with a single in the second inning.

Caitrider had two hits for the winners while Mitchem socked a double. Lewis showed a double and single to pace Mon-Yough.

Sadecki Finally Defeats Mets

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Mets, unhappily settling ever deeper into the National League cellar, suffered a double defeat Friday night.

Not only were they beaten 3-0 by San Francisco, the Mets also lost their own personal patsy and it might be a long time before they find one to replace him.

Giant's pitcher Ray Sadecki had somehow not managed to beat the Mets for more than three years—surely a record of sorts—before Friday's victory and had been chased in each of his previous eight starts against them.

That situation was abruptly terminated when in 8 1-3 innings he gave up just six hits before getting some last-minute help in mopping up the Mets from Frank Linzy. It was the lefthander's first victory is nearly a month and dropped the Mets 23½ games off the pace.

In other National League games, St. Louis shut out Cincinnati 5-0, Philadelphia crushed Houston 7-1, Atlanta beat Chicago 6-3, and Pittsburgh edged Los Angeles 3-2 in 10 innings.

Sadecki broke his jinx against the Mets by slowing down out on the mound.

"I usually get out there and work too fast," he said. "It's a big problem of mine. But catcher Tom Haller comes out and talks to me and won't give me that ball, so I have to slow down."

Sadecki struck out nine batters, drove in one run with a single and moved a runner to third with another. Jim Hart hit his 25th homer.

St. Louis moved seven games ahead of Chicago in the National League race, with Larry Jaster mowing down Cincinnati on four hits. The Cards scored all their runs in the sixth inning, Lou Brock doubling in two of them.

Dick Ellsworth stopped the Astros on seven hits, completing his first game since April as the Phillies struck for 16 hits. Don Lock hit a three-run homer, and Johnny Briggs had four hits. Rich Allen drove in two runs and had three hits.

Denis Menke had four hits and Joe Torre three as the Braves presented the Cubs with their sixth defeat in their last seven games. Pat Jarvis, 12-4, was the winning pitcher.

Jim Lefebvre's wild throw allowed Gene Alley to come in with Pittsburgh's winning run. Alley singled leading off the 10th, moved to second on Jim Pagliaroni's bunt hit and came around when Lefebvre fielded Jose Pagan's bunt and threw it past third trying for the forceout.

Terrell Seen Favorite In Elimination

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — More than 800 pounds of fighters aiming at the world's heavyweight championship will start pounding each other as the sun slants over the Astrodome today.

It is the start of an eight-man tournament to select a successor to the deposed Cassius Clay, who wouldn't go into the military service. So his title was declared vacant by many boxing control bodies including the World Boxing Association, which is conducting the elimination tourney.

Ernie Terrell, who once was recognized as WBA champion, is the big man of the doubleheader attraction expected to pull 15,000 fans into the Dome, which seats 66,000 for boxing.

Terrell, who was beaten decisively by Clay in a world's title fight here seven months ago, starts back up—he hopes—as he meets young Thad Spencer in what is considered to be the headline bout of the nationally televised doubleheader (ABC-TV, 5 p.m. EDT). Houston will be blacked out.

The other fight, going on first, sends a couple of ambitious 27-year-olds—Jimmy Ellis and Leotis Martin—slashing at each other.

The other fight matches a couple of guys who don't hit 195 pounds. Ellis weighed in at 194½ while Martin was 192.

Terrell is favored to whip Spencer while Ellis, a former sparmate of Clay, gets the nod to beat Martin.

Parsons' Coal Wins City LL Title

New Champs Explode For 9-Run Frame

Parsons' Coal was crowned champion of the East Liverpool Little League Friday after a 12-6 victory over Vernon Dell in the deciding playoff game at Thompson Park.

Parsons bounced back after trailing 5-0 when Vernon Dell came up with five runs in the top of the first inning.

The new City champs scored twice in their half of the first then lowered the boom in the third inning sending 13 batters to the plate to score nine runs. Parsons scored the nine runs on six hits, three walks and an error.

In that inning two Parsons players had two hits in one inning. Tom Samples collected two singles but third baseman Dennis Yanni belted two doubles. Yanni paced Parsons attack with three doubles in four trips while Samples showed a double and two singles in four times.

Mark McGeehan, after the shaky first inning start, went the distance for Parsons and gave up only one run in the last five innings.

Vernon Dell outhit Parsons, 11-9 with B. Henderson collecting two hits and Jim Anderson delivering a double and single.

Joe Henderson was the losing pitcher.

Parsons won the championship by taking two straight games after losing the first contest of the three-game playoff series.

Warren Fireman Wins State's Publinx Crown

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Public Links golf championship belongs to modest Leo Zampedro, a Warren fireman who almost didn't get an invitation to play.

Zampedro, 26, parlayed his own strong game Friday and the amazing collapse of veteran Art Todd to post his four stroke triumph.

He toured the 6,374-yard Auglaize Country Club layout with a hot two-under par 70 and finished with a 72-hole total of 287, one under for the route.

The Warren District Committee that selects area golfers to play in the publinx had 18 spots to fill and somehow overlooked Zampedro. But Ohio Golfers Association secretary Joe Patton decided to enter Zampedro from his own Steubenville district.

"I gave him a spot because I thought he was capable of winning," Patton said.

Todd, a 52-year-old Columbus maintenance man, carried a two-stroke edge over young Mike Zimmerman of Dayton and a three-shot lead over Zampedro going into the final round.

Then the roof caved in. By the time Todd, who won this event in 1959, had made the turn, he had taken two double bogeys and one triple-bogey. He needed 11 strokes to get home on two par three holes.

Todd, who now has finished runnerup nine times in his 30 years as an entrant, closed with a 77 and a 291 total.

Zimmerman, the University of Dayton business major, supplied Zampedro's only challenge on the back nine. He moved within two strokes of the leader with a birdie on No. 14 but the Warren father of two boys, cooly withstanding the pressure, birdied the 18th while Zimmerman suffered a double bogey six.

That gave the Daytonian a 76 and 292 for third place.

"All I was trying to do," Zampedro said later, "was shoot a 69 or 70. I thought that score could win it all. I heard about Todd's blowing up when I made the turn but had no idea whether I led or not. I felt sorry for Art.

U.S. Eyes More Medals As Pan Am Nears End

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

WINNIPEG, Canada (AP) — The dominant U.S. forces set their eyes on four world records in track and field and a cluster of at least 15 more gold medals today in the climax of the fifth Pan-American Games.

A championship was assured in basketball. The Yanks also hoped to win six of the nine final events in track and field and take perhaps five of the seven rowing races on the Red River Floodway.

Two U.S. boxers—light welterweight James Wallington of Philadelphia and light heavyweight Archer Redden, an Army sergeant from Wilmington, Del.—were in the finals. The U.S. women basketball players were bidding for a silver medal.

Today's full schedule just about winds up these hemispheric olympics, to be concluded Sunday with formal ceremonies and the traditional Nation's Cup equestrian test.

There appears little chance of beating the record 120 gold medals won by the United States in 1959. The total now is 103, with 56 silver and 42 bronze.

World record possibilities lie in the pole vault, where Bob Seagren (17-5½) of Los Angeles is the lone competitor; the men's 400 and 1600-meter relays, and the women's 800-meter run, in which 19-year-old Madeline Manning is shooting to break the two-minute barrier.

Packers Cool Off Fired-Up All-Stars With 27-0 Decision

Starr Paces Attack With 15 Complete

By F. RICHARD CICCONE

CHICAGO (AP) — Bart Starr had only a half interest in the 34th college All-Star game Friday night but that's all it took for the Green Bay passing master to cool off a fired-up All-Star defense and pace the professional champions to a 27-0 triumph.

Starr, facing a strong collegiate rush, put the Packer running game in cold storage in the first half but chilled the All-Stars with 15 completions for 212 yards and two touchdowns before retiring to the sidelines at the halftime.

The lanky Alabaman, who directed the Packers to a Super Bowl victory last season used six different receivers to flood the collegiate defense, then ignored the long strike and picked apart the shallow secondary.

The Green Bay quarterback was surprised early in the game when Bubba Smith, Michigan State's mammoth end, broke through and pinned him for a 10-yard loss.

Starr dusted himself off and completed three straight passes to the All-Star 13-yard line, where Don Chandler kicked a field goal.

Three plays later, Steve Spurrier, the Heisman Trophy winning quarterback from Florida who started the game for the collegians, fumbled and when the rugged star defense stopped the Green Bay running game, Chandler kicked his second field goal.

In the second quarter, Starr began testing the collegiate secondary and he found it wanting. The Packers drove 61 yards in eight plays with Starr hitting Boyd Dowler with an 11-yard touchdown strike.

The All-Star offense, loaded with highly regarded running backs, was held in check by the impregnable Packer forward wall.

Coach John Sauer shuttled Spurrier and Bob Griese of Purdue in and out of the line-up, but neither could find the passing magic to loosen the Green Bay defense.

Midway in the second quarter, Starr hung out three completions bringing the Packers to the All-Star 21, then found Bob Long all alone in the right corner of the end zone for a touchdown.

Zeke Bratkowski relieved Starr for the second half, and though he completed eight of 11 passes the All-Stars were able to contain the Packers in the third quarter. But again the Packer defense yielded little to the collegiate attempts.

Jim Grabowski, last year's prize rookie from Illinois who was on duty with the National Guard in Milwaukee, Wis., joined Green Bay shortly before the game and stamped himself as an appropriate heir to the fullback position where Jim Taylor once reigned.

Grabowski sparked the Packers in the second half, gaining 53 yards in seven carries, including a 22-yard touchdown sprint through the middle of the All-Star defense in the final period. He was the game's leading rusher with 77 yards in nine carries.

After the score, Griese led the Stars on their only sustained march of the evening. He completed four passes to carry them from their 19 to the Green Bay 18, then threw to Dave Williams of Washington who was alone in the middle of the end zone. But Williams had to leap for the ball and came down past the end line nullifying the score.

The Stars were good where they were expected to be—stopping Green Bay's running—and weak where their supporters hoped they wouldn't be—coping with the brilliant Starr.

The Packer victory coupled with a 38-0 triumph last year, made it eight straight scoreless quarters for the All-Stars who suffered their 23rd loss in the series.

The Stars have won nine, the last time in 1963 against Green Bay, and two games were tied.

A crowd of 70,934 watched the contest at Soldier Field.

Danny Cunningham's triple woke up the East Liverpool attack in the sixth inning. Cunningham's blast to centerfield scored Tom Chambers who had singled.

Cunningham scored later on an error by the shortstop to tie the contest.

IN WARREN'S seventh inning, a double by Davies was the key blow as he drove home Jenkins from first base. Jenkins, a pinchhitter had singled. Davies later scored on a single by Lee. The runs came off lefthander Steve Murray who had relieved Howell. Murray was checked with the loss.

Davies went all the way for Warren giving up six hits. Howell only allowed three hits during his six inning stint and fanned three batters but gave up five walks.

Jim Lefebvre's wild throw allowed Gene Alley to come in with Pittsburgh's winning run. Alley singled leading off the 10th, moved to second on Jim Pagliaroni's bunt hit and came around when Lefebvre fielded Jose Pagan's bunt and threw it past third trying for the forceout.

Parsons' Coal Wins City LL Title

New Champs Explode For 9-Run Frame

Parsons' Coal was crowned champion of the East Liverpool Little League Friday after a 12-6 victory over Vernon Dell in the deciding playoff game at Thompson Park.

Parsons bounced back after trailing 5-0 when Vernon Dell came up with five runs in the top of the first inning.

The new City champs scored twice in their half of the first then lowered the boom in the third inning sending 13 batters to the plate to score nine runs. Parsons scored the nine runs on six hits, three walks and an error.

In that inning two Parsons players had two hits in one inning. Tom Samples collected two singles but third baseman Dennis Yanni belted two doubles. Yanni paced Parsons attack with three doubles in four trips while Samples showed a double and two singles in four times.

Mark McGeehan, after the shaky first inning start, went the distance for Parsons and gave up only one run in the last five innings.

Vernon Dell outhit Parsons, 11-9 with B. Henderson collecting two hits and Jim Anderson delivering a double and single.

Joe Henderson was the losing pitcher.

Parsons won the championship by taking two straight games after losing the first contest of the three-game playoff series.

U.S. Eyes More Medals As Pan Am Nears End

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

WINNIPEG, Canada (AP) — The dominant U.S. forces set their eyes on four world records in track and field and a cluster of at least 15 more gold medals today in the climax of the fifth Pan-American Games.

A championship was assured in basketball. The Yanks also hoped to win six of the nine final events in track and field and take perhaps five of the seven rowing races on the Red River Floodway.

Two U.S. boxers—light welterweight James Wallington of Philadelphia and light heavyweight Archer Redden, an Army sergeant from Wilmington, Del.—were in the finals. The U.S. women basketball players were bidding for a silver medal.

Today's full schedule just about winds up these hemispheric olympics, to be concluded Sunday with formal ceremonies and the traditional Nation's Cup equestrian test.

There appears little chance of beating the record 120 gold medals won by the United States in 1959. The total now is 103, with 56 silver and 42 bronze.

World record possibilities lie in the pole vault, where Bob Seagren (17-5½) of Los Angeles is the lone competitor; the men's 400 and 1600-meter relays, and the women's 800-meter run, in which 19-year-old Madeline Manning is shooting to break the two-minute barrier.

Mikkelsen Sold; Gelnar Joins Bucs

PITTSBURGH — The Pittsburgh Pirate relief pitcher Pete Mikkelsen was sold to the Chicago Cubs for the $20,000 waiver price. His spot was filled by John Glenar of the Bucs' Columbus (Ohio) farm club.

Gelnar, a 24-year-old righthander leave the International League Jets with a 2.84 earned run average.

Mikkelsen, 27, had a 1-2 record with a 4.33 earned run average with Pittsburgh. He was acquired from the New York Yankees last season.

He set a Pirate club record in 1966 by appearing in 71 games and finished with a 9-8 record, 10 saves and a 3.07 earned run average.

Harris Leads Western Open

CHICAGO (AP) — The have-nots of golf's golden tournament tour are making a strong run for the $20,000 first prize of the Western Open.

At the start of today's third round over Beverly's par-embattered lay-out, Labron Harris, son of the Oklahoma State golf coach and 1962 National Amateur champion, led with an eight-under-par 134. In two rounds he has 18 one-putt greens.

Warren Fireman Wins State's Publinx Crown

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Public Links golf championship belongs to modest Leo Zampedro, a Warren fireman who almost didn't get an invitation to play.

Zampedro, 26, parlayed his own strong game Friday and the amazing collapse of veteran Art Todd to post his four stroke triumph.

He toured the 6,374-yard Auglaize Country Club layout with a hot two-under par 70 and finished with a 72-hole total of 287, one under for the route.

The Warren District Committee that selects area golfers to play in the publinx had 18 spots to fill and somehow overlooked Zampedro. But Ohio Golfers Association secretary Joe Patton decided to enter Zampedro from his own Steubenville district.

"I gave him a spot because I thought he was capable of winning," Patton said.

Todd, a 52-year-old Columbus maintenance man, carried a two-stroke edge over young Mike Zimmerman of Dayton and a three-shot lead over Zampedro going into the final round.

Then the roof caved in. By the time Todd, who won this event in 1959, had made the turn, he had taken two double bogeys and one triple-bogey. He needed 11 strokes to get home on two par three holes.

Todd, who now has finished runnerup nine times in his 30 years as an entrant, closed with a 77 and a 291 total.

Zimmerman, the University of Dayton business major, supplied Zampedro's only challenge on the back nine. He moved within two strokes of the leader with a birdie on No. 14 but the Warren father of two boys, cooly withstanding the pressure, birdied the 18th while Zimmerman suffered a double bogey six.

That gave the Daytonian a 76 and 292 for third place.

"All I was trying to do," Zampedro said later, "was shoot a 69 or 70. I thought that score could win it all. I heard about Todd's blowing up when I made the turn but had no idea whether I led or not. I felt sorry for Art.

Mrs. Nicely Captures Ladies Club Title

Mrs. Norman Nicely captured the 1967 Ladies Club Championship Friday morning. Mrs. Nicely had to go an extra hole to defeat Mrs. Rick Cable, one up, in winning the title.

Terrell Seen Favorite In Elimination

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — More than 800 pounds of fighters aiming at the world's heavyweight championship will start pounding each other as the sun slants over the Astrodome today.

It is the start of an eight-man tournament to select a successor to the deposed Cassius Clay, who wouldn't go into the military service. So his title was declared vacant by many boxing control bodies including the World Boxing Association, which is conducting the elimination tourney.

Ernie Terrell, who once was recognized as WBA champion, is the big man of the doubleheader attraction expected to pull 15,000 fans into the Dome, which seats 66,000 for boxing.

Terrell, who was beaten decisively by Clay in a world's title fight here seven months ago, starts back up—he hopes—as he meets young Thad Spencer in what is considered to be the headline bout of the nationally televised doubleheader (ABC-TV, 5 p.m. EDT). Houston will be blacked out.

The other fight, going on first, sends a couple of ambitious 27-year-olds—Jimmy Ellis and Leotis Martin—slashing at each other.

The other fight matches a couple of guys who don't hit 195 pounds. Ellis weighed in at 194½ while Martin was 192.

Terrell is favored to whip Spencer while Ellis, a former sparmate of Clay, gets the nod to beat Martin.

Twins' Merritt Hurls 3-0 Shutout At Surging Bosox

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's not that Jim Merritt is anti-social, you understand. It's just that he's more comfortable when he pitches without company from the other team.

Merritt had plenty of visitors on the basepaths in the first four innings of Friday night's game against Boston but hung on to enjoy the solitude that developed after that in Minnesota's 3-0 victory over the Red Sox.

The left-hander struggled through the early innings, then took control, allowing only one base runner in the last five innings and picked up his eighth victory and third shutout of the season.

The defeat dropped the second place Sox 2½ games back of the Chicago White Sox who were rained out at Baltimore. In other American League action Kansas City shaded New York 2-1, Cleveland battered Detroit 11-5, and California squeezed past Washington 5-4.

Boston got one runner to third and three more to second in the early innings against Merritt as two Minnesota errors put him in hot water.

But the lanky southpaw threaded his way out each time and lowered his earned run average to 2.06—best among American League starters. He allowed only one hit in the last six innings.

Two of the Twins' three runs were unearned as Boston's infield committed three errors. Tony Oliva doubled one run across in the first, and Minnesota had the bases loaded with none out against Darrell Brandon. But Bob Allison and Zoilo Versalles struck out before Ted Uhlaender walked, forcing in the second run of the inning.

Allison doubled and pinch runner Sandy Valdespino scampered home with a insurance run in the seventh when Mike Andrews booted Versalles' grounder.

Danny Cater made a circus catch with the bases loaded and two out in the eighth inning, preserving Kansas City's victo-

Two singles and a walk had loaded the bases, and Bill Robinson tagged a shot deep to left field. But Cater raced back, leaped against the wall and grabbed the ball.

Consecutive sacrifice flies by Cater and Ken Harrelson produced both Athletic runs in the third inning, and John (Blue Moon) Odom limited the Yankees to four hits until the eighth to get credit for the victory.

Duke Sims drove in five runs —three of them on a home run— as Cleveland battered Detroit. Vern Fuller followed Sims' shot in the first inning with a homer as the Indians exploded for five fast runs.

Jim Landis homered for the Tigers.

California reliever Minnie Rojas choked off a late Washington rally and held the Senators at bay for his 17th save of the season.

Ken McMullen slammed a pair of homers and drove in all four runs for the Senators.

Woodie Held's bases-loaded double delivered three runs for the Angels and Don Mincher cracked his 17th home run of the year.

$50 Million Television Contract Given Baseball

By KEN HARTNETT
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Organized baseball, confident it could command a record price, got what it asked for—a record $50 million television contract with the National Broadcasting Co.

Agreement on the three-year contract, which will run from 1969 through 1971, came Friday at a day-long negotiating session between baseball's television committee and NBC officials.

The current contract is worth about $36 million.

The agreement gives NBC continued rights to the World Series, All-Star games and the Game of The Week, a series that includes 28 weekly telecasts a season.

Each major league team is expected to participate in the Game of The Week series—which is worth about $300,000 a team under the current pact.

Philadelphia is the only team now out of the series.

Although the contract is the best ever negotiated by baseball, it falls short of the National Football League package that reached about $66 million for a three-year term.

The agreement came as a surprise.

NBC had until Sept. 15 before its option with baseball expired.

Baseball had been prepared to turn to the Columbia Broadcasting System and the American Broadcasting Co. should NBC reject its demands.

One source said that baseball's starting price in the negotiations was $60 million.

Twins' Merritt Hurls 3-0 Shutout At Surging Bosox

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's not that Jim Merritt is anti-social, you understand. It's just that he's more comfortable when he pitches without company from the other team.

Merritt had plenty of visitors on the basepaths in the first four innings of Friday night's game against Boston but hung on to enjoy the solitude that developed after that in Minnesota's 3-0 victory over the Red Sox.

The left-hander struggled through the early innings, then took control, allowing only one base runner in the last five innings and picked up his eighth victory and third shutout of the season.

The defeat dropped the second place Sox 2½ games back of the Chicago White Sox who were rained out at Baltimore. In other American League action Kansas City shaded New York 2-1, Cleveland battered Detroit 11-5, and California squeezed past Washington 5-4.

Boston got one runner to third and three more to second in the early innings against Merritt as two Minnesota errors put him in hot water.

But the lanky southpaw threaded his way out each time and lowered his earned run average to 2.06—best among American League starters. He allowed only one hit in the last six innings.

Two of the Twins' three runs were unearned as Boston's infield committed three errors. Tony Oliva doubled one run across in the first, and Minnesota had the bases loaded with none out against Darrell Brandon. But Bob Allison and Zoilo Versalles struck out before Ted Uhlaender walked, forcing in the second run of the inning.

Allison doubled and pinch runner Sandy Valdespino scampered home with a insurance run in the seventh when Mike Andrews booted Versalles' grounder.

Danny Cater made a circus catch with the bases loaded and two out in the eighth inning, preserving Kansas City's victo-

Two singles and a walk had loaded the bases, and Bill Robinson tagged a shot deep to left field. But Cater raced back, leaped against the wall and grabbed the ball.

Consecutive sacrifice flies by Cater and Ken Harrelson produced both Athletic runs in the third inning, and John (Blue Moon) Odom limited the Yankees to four hits until the eighth to get credit for the victory.

Duke Sims drove in five runs —three of them on a home run— as Cleveland battered Detroit. Vern Fuller followed Sims' shot in the first inning with a homer as the Indians exploded for five fast runs.

Jim Landis homered for the Tigers.

California reliever Minnie Rojas choked off a late Washington rally and held the Senators at bay for his 17th save of the season.

Ken McMullen slammed a pair of homers and drove in all four runs for the Senators.

Woodie Held's bases-loaded double delivered three runs for the Angels and Don Mincher cracked his 17th home run of the year.

Conference Due On New Gas Rate

City Council is scheduled to meet in caucus session Monday night at 7 with Harold Sneddon, district manager for the Ohio Valley Gas Co., to discuss a request for a rate increase which the company presented June 19.

Sneddon filed a proposal for a new four-year contract at rates he said average out to a 17 per cent increase. The former contract expired June 16.

The present agreement calls for these charges: 30.1 cents per 100 cubic feet for the first 1,300 cubic feet; 7.72 cents per 100 for the next 298,000 cubic feet and 7.1 cents per 100 for all over 300,000 cubic feet. The minimum monthly charge is $2.65.

The proposed rate calls for this schedule: 30 cents per 100 for the first 2,000 cubic feet; 8.5 cents per 100 for the next 298,000 cubic feet, and 7.1 cents per 100 for all in excess of 300,000 cubic feet. The minimum charge would be $3.

Council is scheduled to convene publicly at 8 to consider about a half a dozen ordinances and resolutions on which action was postponed last Monday.

Conference Due On New Gas Rate

City Council is scheduled to meet in caucus session Monday night at 7 with Harold Sneddon, district manager for the Ohio Valley Gas Co., to discuss a request for a rate increase which the company presented June 19.

Sneddon filed a proposal for a new four-year contract at rates he said average out to a 17 per cent increase. The former contract expired June 16.

The present agreement calls for these charges: 30.1 cents per 100 cubic feet for the first 1,300 cubic feet; 7.72 cents per 100 for the next 298,000 cubic feet and 7.1 cents per 100 for all over 300,000 cubic feet. The minimum monthly charge is $2.65.

The proposed rate calls for this schedule: 30 cents per 100 for the first 2,000 cubic feet; 8.5 cents per 100 for the next 298,000 cubic feet, and 7.1 cents per 100 for all in excess of 300,000 cubic feet. The minimum charge would be $3.

Council is scheduled to convene publicly at 8 to consider about a half a dozen ordinances and resolutions on which action was postponed last Monday.

Junior Editors Quiz on BUTTER

QUESTION: How did men find out about butter?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: People have known about butter for a long time. The Greeks and Romans used it, not only as food, but as a medicine and for dressing the hair. There is an old tradition as to how butter was discovered, which we illustrate. One hot day a man of the ancient Asian Aryan peoples was riding his horse on a bumpy road. He had a bag of sour goat's milk along. When he stopped to eat, the milk had changed to a thick yellow substance which tasted very good. In some such way, it was found that when you shake milk sufficiently butter will form. At first the ancients produced it by swinging bags of milk. Housewives in early American times set milk on crocks so the cream would rise. They skimmed this off and made butter by moving a paddle or dasher up and down in a churn. When the mechanical cream separator appeared in 1856, butter-making was taken over by large creameries. We must apologize to Bossy (last picture). Although butter can be made from the milk of goats, sheep and some other animals, it is good old Bossy the cow who provides us with the delicious and nutritious spread we enjoy so much.

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Time is a strange thing.

Today is today. But what was today yesterday? It was tomorrow. And what will today be tomorrow? It will be yesterday. So every day has three identities—yesterday, today and tomorrow.

By the miracle of memory all our yesterdays again become momentary todays: bygone scenes, sounds and scents come alive again to twinge us anew with wonder or regret.

You've got a pretty good collection of yesterdays in your memory gallery if you can look back and remember when—

Riots seemed to occur only in foreign countries.

It was thought you had musical aptitude if you learned how to pump a player piano.

The revolutionary idea of installing radios in automobiles was opposed by some on the grounds that it would cause carnage on the highways by distracted drivers.

We had a popular folk hero who neither sang nor played the guitar, and didn't even wear a beard. Who was he? Tarzan of the apes, that's who.

College teams played football for fun.

Norman Thomas, the Socialist, was thought to be a wild-eyed radical and a threat to the American way of life.

In hot weather young ladies carried fans to the theater, but used them more as instruments of flirtation than as tools to lower their temperature.

You definitely didn't belong to the "in" set if you didn't know how to play mah-jongg.

Women's bathing suits hung lower than today's miniskirts.

Many people opposed the goal of a five-day work week on the grounds that the laboring classes would only use the added day of leisure to destroy themselves through sin and drunken revelry.

Long-distance phone calls were so expensive that relatives couldn't afford to ring you up more than once a year to tell you their troubles.

A dog could fall asleep in most American village streets without fear of being run over, because, if a horse and buggy came along, he could always wake up in time to get out of the way.

More men slept in flannel nightgowns in winter than in pajamas.

Little old ladies hadn't discovered sneakers. They padded around in slippers.

Two of the biggest problems facing a boy growing into manhood were learning how to shave with a straight razor and how to chew tobacco.

A majority of U.S. business leaders were self-made men who generally looked on a college education as a waste of time.

A kid could leave his bicycle unlocked in the front yard overnight without fear it would be stolen.

People didn't hesitate about nodding to a stranger and giving him a friendly "howdy."

Those were the days! Remember?

Steel Given Auto Orders

CLEVELAND (AP)—Demand for steel is picking up and the automotive industry is largely responsible, Steel magazine reported Sunday.

Auto plants and their suppliers have begun to order a substantial volume of hot and cold rolled carbon sheets for September delivery, the metalworking weekly said.

"In addition, automotive industry buyers are asking that some of the deliveries scheduled for September be advanced to August," Steel reported.

Auto plants were reported scheduling production on a "no strike basis—although they may be faced with a strike in September."

Steel said demand for tin plate has been fairly active but "appears to be heading for a slackness stemming from the weather." The cool summer in many areas is reducing consumption of beer and soft drinks Steel explained.

Forms of steel reported in strongest demand currently were reinforcing bars, wire rods and railroad accessories.

With demand strengthening, raw steel production is on the rise. Steel estimated production in the week ended Aug. 5 at 2,320,000 net tons, up 4 per cent from the preceding week and the fourth straight weekly advance.

Strength in the steel scrap market was reflected in a price advance. Steel's price composite on top grade steelmaking scrap rose to $27.17 a gross ton from $26.83 the preceding week.

The world's first crude lamp probably appeared about 30,000 years ago. This was a shallow, soapstone lamp with animal-fat fuel, used by Cro-Magnon man for lighting his caves.

Here's Breakdown Of Tax Hike Package Asked By LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here's a breakdown of the tax hike package sent to Congress Thursday by President Johnson:

Individual Income Taxes—A 10-per cent surcharge effective Oct. 1 of this year. This would mean a person who currently would pay $500 in income taxes would have to pay $550 over the course of a full year—or $512.50 this year, since the surcharge would be in effect only the final quarter. Unaffected would be some 16 million persons in the lowest income brackets.

Corporate Income Taxes—A 10-per cent surtax effective last July 1. Speed up corporate tax collections.

Automobile Taxes—Continue the 7 per cent manufacturer's excise tax on autos to July 1, 1969. It was scheduled to drop to 2 per cent next April 1 and to 1 per cent on Jan. 1, 1969. Under the proposal it wouldn't dip to 1 per cent until Jan. 1, 1970.

Telephone Excise Taxes—Postpone until July 1, 1969, the cut in telephone excise taxes from 10 per cent to 1 per cent. It was scheduled for April 1. Postpone for one year the scheduled elimination of the tax.

Anticipated Results—A $6.3-billion increase income tax revenues for the fiscal year ending next June 31; excise tax postponements would salvage $300 million otherwise lost; and the corporate speedup will net $800 million.

Hereford Group Will Hold Picnic

A picnic for members of the Eastern Ohio Hereford Association will be held Aug. 12 at the Vernon Dell Farms on the Calcutta - Cannons Mills Rd. Members may bring guests, association officials said.

A special program is being planned.

Wilbur Coy of Salem is president, Herb Thompson vice president and Don Thompson a director.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—Is there anything I can do about a cork gasket that has shrunk?

A. — You can sometimes restore it to its original size by dipping it into water and then laying it flat on paper toweling long enough to absorb the moisture and to swell. Be sure not to soak it in the water too long, since it might come apart and crumble.

Q.—How can I perform a good cleaning job on some of my rings?

A. —With an old toothbrush and soap and water — unless the rings are badly tarnished, in which case try using bicarbonate of soda. Just dip the brush into the bicarb, scrub the ring with this, and rinse.
